KING ESCAPES PALACE BOMBING

Death Toll Rises In Munitions Blast

FIFTY PERSONS BELIEVED DEAD IN EXPLOSION

35 Bodies Recovered, Others Missing in New Jersey Powder Blast.

SABOTAGE PROBED

Government, Local Agents Join Investigation of Disaster at Hercules Plant.

(By United Press)

KENVIL, N. J.—Military and civil investigators searched the smouldering ruins of the Hercules Powder company plant for evidence of sabotage today while Dr. H. Raymond Mütchler, county medical examiner, estimated that at least 50 workmen were killed by yesterday's explosion

There were 35 known dead. Several men were missing and more bodies were believed to be in the unexplored ruins. There were 83 injured in two nearby hospitals, several of them near death.

The whole smokeless powder section of the plant, where work was being speeded on a $2,000,000 government defense order, was leveled to the ground. A dynamite-making unit escaped damage, however, and the morning shift of workers filed back to the grounds. Casualties had decimated the plant's force of 1,200 employes, but the survivors were all put to work, making dynamite, clearing debris and hunting for bodies.

The scene was swarming with investigators representing the army and navy intelligence services, the federal bureau of investigation, the Dies committee investigating un-American activities, the New Jersey legislature and police. Some of the secret agents had come by taxicab from as far as Virginia.

A search of the ruins was delayed by smouldering fires, which had burned fitfully all night, accompanied by puffs of alcohol vapors. Over more than half a square mile hot stones and bricks and molten steel lay in heaps.

Awaiting an opportunity to get onto the grounds, investigators questioned surviving workers, some of whom said that several employes of the Hercules and the Picatinny army arsenal at Dover, nearby, had been discharged recently as the aftermath of a joint Ku Klux

NO DECISION

Crafton Says Type of Parking Meters Still Under Study.

Service-Safety Director C M Crafton said today that decision on the type of parking meters to be installed in downtown Mansfield would be made "by the first of next week."

He said he was studying recommendations given by a committee of city officials and head of the citizens' committee on traffic, which met Wednesday afternoon.

The committee voted on the type of meters they favored at the session and it was learned that the majority of them favored automatic machines

At the time legislation was approved Crafton was authorized to enter into a contract for leasing approximately 500 meters for a nine-month trial period.

ARMY EQUIPPED

Rep. Harter Informed Upon Training Preparedness.

AKRON —(AP)— Any statement that the war department does not have sufficient equipment to train the million men expected to be under arms by next January is "entirely erroneous," a war department memorandum made public here today by Rep. Dow W Harter (Ohio) declared

"Our individual and organizational equipment, including basic weapons is more than ample for the training of all the men that will be called to the colors," the memorandum said.

BAND 'TAG DAY' ON TOMORROW

High School Musicians To Be on Downtown Streets For Uniform Donations.

If you come down town Saturday, you'll be wearing a red tag on your lapel before you go home, or 100 members of the Mansfield Senior high school band will feel they didn't do a good job of selling.

For tomorrow is "Tag Day," the day when the band members begin their campaign for funds to buy them new uniforms.

Anything—from a penny on up—will be accepted as a donation. Band members will be dressed in their uniforms tomorrow and will be standing on street corners and in the stores with a tag in one hand and a bank in the other, ready to receive your donations.

Mayor W. J. Locke issued a proclamation yesterday setting aside Saturday as "Tag Day" in Mansfield, so it's all official.

King Says Nazi Barbarity Gives Strength To British.

LONDON—(AP)—King George, replying to the war cabinet's congratulations on their majesties' escape when [illegible] was bombed this morning, said:

"Like [illegible] now have had a personal experience of German barbarity which only strengthens the resolution of all of us to fight through to final victory."

TRAIN KILLS MAN, TOSSES BODY 75 FEET

R. B. Weikert, 45, Perrysville, Dies Instantly as Freight Engine Hits Him.

WAS INSPECTING TIES

Track Worker Was Searching For Flaws in Rail Line Near Bowman Street.

Struck by a west bound freight train on the Pennsylvania railroad near Trimble road crossing, west of Bowman street, Raymond B. Weikert, 45, Perrysville, met instant death shortly after 11 a. m. today

According to Deputy Sheriffs Frank E. Robinson and Glenn P. Freeman, Weikert had been inspecting damaged ties along the railroad tracks when the accident occurred.

His body was tossed approximately 75 feet. It was found on another of the three lines of tracks beyond the road intersection, known as "dead man's crossing."

Coroner Hugh C. Winbigler, who was completing the investigation this afternoon, said his verdict would probably be accidental death. He said Weikert had suffered a fractured skull and brain lacerations.

According to railway officials, Weikert had taken a crew of six men along the right-of-way to pile new ties.

Members of the crew said he had gone ahead of them for approximately 200 yards to mark damaged ties with a yellow crayon to indicate where replacements were needed.

Crew members, who were west of the crossing, said they did not see the train strike Weikert who they believe, had just reached the east side of the intersection when he was struck. They reported that the locomotive stopped just as it reached the point where they were working.

Memebrs of the train crew reported they saw Weikert's body hurtle through the air

Attendants at the Geiger funeral home where the body was taken were seeking to get in touch with the family or friends at Perrysville today to notify them.

Weikert, a track foreman, was a veteran Pennsylvania employe.

CONGRESS PROBE

Sabotage Investigation In Powder Blast Urged.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—A resolution deman ing an immediate congressional investigation of possible sabotage in the Hercules Powder company explosion at Kenvil, N. J., was placed before the house today by Rep. Anderson (D) Mo.

The Missourian asked that a committee of five be name to conduct hearings "to determine if there is evidence of sabotage in this or in other national defense plants."

The resolution was introduced amid widespread demand on Capitol Hill for a thorough investigation of the tragic blast which wrecked buildings and killed an undetermined number.

ALIENS LISTED

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The justice department announced today that 451,146 aliens have registered through Sept. 9 under the new alien control law, including 19,948 in Ohio.

Victims of Munition Plant Blast

Workmen and nearby residents injured by the devastating explosion of the Hercules Gunpowder manufacturing plant at Kenvil, N. J., are shown after receiving emergency treatment at nearby Dover hospital No explosion since the World war days has come near rivalling the number of casualties and deaths. The concussion of the blast was felt in communities 50 miles from the scene. The gunpowder plant had millions of dollars of nearly completed munition orders for the U. S. army and Great Britain. Authorities are investigating rumors of sabotage.

Mansfield Aliens Know the Answers In Citizenship Quiz

Probably not one native American in 10 can name three supreme court judges or tell how many circuit courts there are in the United States, but several foreign-born Mansfielders knew the answers last night in a mock citizenship examination at the courthouse.

Forty-six applicants for citizenship who will take the final naturalization test Oct. 2 made some native-born high school graduates ashamed with their prompt answers to queries at the practice hearing conducted by the WPA adult education project.

John G. Olmstead, Columbus, WPA adult education supervisor in the Central Ohio district, said it was the first attempt at a WPA mock hearing in the state and the session was so successful that it probably will be tried in other cities.

Olmstead was the examining judge last night, granting papers that didn't mean anything, or telling the applicants to study some more.

"We prefer to have the citizenship pupil get a thorough understanding of the meaning of democratic government and its functions rather than a mechanical knowledge of unimportant dates and events in history," Olmstead said.

But some of the pupils who

ITALIAN BOMBS SIGNAL DRIVE AGAINST EGYPT

Day and Night Raids Reported Made on Military Objectives Along Coast Line.

SAY OFFENSIVE UNDER WAY

Observers In Rome Believe March on British Forces Has Already Begun.

(UP Staff Correspondent)

ROME—Preparing for a reported Italian offensive against Egypt designed to capture the Suez canal, Italian bombing planes are making "day and night raids over military objectives along the Egyptian coast" a communique said today.

General headquarters of the Italian armed forces said that the raids on the Egyptian coast had caused fires, that a fuel depot had been blown up and that "units of tanks and armored cars repeatedly were hit and destroyed in air raids over Egypt."

(Italy is not at war with Egypt although Egypt severed diplomatic relations with Italy and Germany soon after Italy's entry into the war. Italy has railed against Egypt because of the British bases there and Egypt has said she would declare war in event of an Italian invasion.)

Informed quarters here believed that the Italian offensive against British forces in Egypt already had begun, following cessation of desert windstorms.

Raid Mechanized Force.

But today's communique told only of offensive air operations and then switched to east Africa where, it was said, Italian air raids had been made against enemy camps and barracks near Abiq, in the Anglo-Egyption Sudan, and against mechanized column of 20 units in the district of El Katulo in Kenya.

(London dispatches had reported British belief that one of the Italian columns operating against Egypt would attempt to cross the Sudan, possibly from a bridgehead at Kassala, established by the Italians several weeks go.)

Today's communique said also that an Italian submarine had returned to its base after sinking in Atlantic ocean 19,000 tons of British shipping, including a tanker of 10,000 tons and a freighter of 8,000 tons.

Rome reports had said that three main Italian columns would

EXPORT BAN

President Places Embargo on Plans for Aircraft.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— In a further move to tighten the export ban on vital national defense materials, President Roosevelt today placed a virtual embargo on aircraft plans and specifications.

The president issued a proclamation requiring that the following items be licensed before the export could be effected:

"Equipment used for the production of aviation motor fuel and tetra ethyl lead or any plans or specifications useful in the design, construction, or operation of such equipment or in connection with such processes.

"Plans, specifications and descriptive or technical information or any kind setting forth the design or construction of aircraft or aircraft engines."

DIRECT ROUTE

Application Filed For Air Line From Washington To Dayton.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Trans continental and Western Air, Inc., today filed application with the civil aeronautics board to establish a direct route between Washington, D. C., and Dayton, O.

The proposed route includes a stop at Clarksburg, W. Va., which has no air service at present. This would be the first direct service between Washington and Dayton.

Second Attack On Buckingham Made by Nazis

British Fear Deliberate Attempt To Drive Royal Couple From London; Downing Street Also Bombed By Incendiary Missles.

(By United Press)

LONDON—German warplanes bombed Buckingham palace and Downing street today in unprecedented daylight attacks that for the first time almost paralyzed London life and aroused British fears of a deliberate offensive to drive the king and government from the capital.

A Nazi bomber diving at Buckingham palace dropped five explosives and a shower of incendiary bombs, but King George and Queen Elizabeth in an underground shelter, escaped injury. Three plumbers working on the south wing were slightly injured, craters were dug in the ground, and the royal chapel was wrecked.

Other incendiary bombs were showered over Downing street—residence of Prime Minister Winston Churchill and site of the foreign office, treasury and other government buildings—and nearby areas. (The great parliament buildings are in this area.) An official statement said slight damage was done in Downing street.

Although the king and queen were described as "quite unshaken" when they later left the palace to make a previously-arranged tour, British sources recalled an article printed on Wednesday in the authoritative Hamburger Fremdenblatt asking whether the king and government could long remain in London in view of the German aerial attacks.

The attack on central London stopped virtually all activity during the second air raid alarm of the day, which lasted more than four hours.

But a third alarm at 18 minutes, starting at 3:54 p. m. (9:54 a. m. EST) coincided with a terrific explosion in the central London area. Later fires were seen both to the west and the southeast, where big explosions had been reported.

British sources charged that the attack on the royal palace was deliberate.

A German plane roared over the palace, cut its engines, dumped a load of bombs and then roared upward again. Two bombs landed in the inner quadrangle of the palace, a third wrecked the royal chapel wing close to the ambassadors' entrance, and two others fell in the roadway between the Victoria memorial and the palace gates.

After the attack, the king and queen walked through the cellars of the palace reassuring members of the staff. Incendiary bombs that fell close to the palace were extinguished quickly.

During the raid in which Buckingham palace was attacked the German raiders showered central London with incendiary bombs.

As soon as the all-clear signal sounded thousands of Londoners

GERMAN CITIES HIT BY BOMBS

Nazis Admit Essen, Bremen, and Hamburg Attacked By RAF Planes.

(By United Press)

BERLIN — Great fires were raging on both sides of the Thames in London today after bombs of all caliber fell on London docks in a raid in which German planes broke through British barrage defenses in southern and southeastern England, the official German news agency said today.

German quarters, describing what they said were devastating raids on Britain, admitted that British planes had bombed Essen, in the vital Ruhr industrial area, Bremen, one of Germany's chief ports, and Hanover, during the night.

New raids on London occurred early this afternoon, D. N. B. said.

"Blazes were visible from a distance, indicating the extent of the success of the raids," the agency claimed.

Germans admitted that the British, raiding Essen, dropped bombs in a suburban street and destroyed some workers houses.

It was disclosed that, though this was the first raid on Essen in four nights, there had been only one night since May 10 when there was no air raid alarm.

(Essen is the headquarters of the gigantic Krupp armament works and other important war industries.)

Berlin had spent a quiet night after three straight nights of British plane attack.

Nazis reported that British planes flew in over Germany but apparently intercepted before

DRIVER FINED

Arrested by highway patrolmen following the second accident within a week involving a school bus, Joseph Bogner, 25, R. D. 4, Shelby, was fined $15 and costs in municipal court this morning for reckless driving.

Highway patrolmen said the accident occurred one mile north of Mansfield on route 39 when Bogner attempted to pass a school bus and collided with the bus and an oncoming car.

The bus was driven by Gilbert Diemer, R. D. 5, Mansfield, while the operator of the other car was Frank White, R. D. 1, Mansfield.

In the bus were 27 school children and Diemer, none of whom were hurt. White and Bogner also escaped injury.

5,000 Expected When Tygers Tackle Akron In First Game 'Under Lights'

Dedication Ceremonies to Start at 7:30 Tonight At Stadium.

A record opening game crowd of 5,000 football fans is expected by high school officials to jam the bleachers at Stadium Field tonight to watch the Tygers tangle with the Akron West Cowboys in the first game played under the new lighting system.

Because of the huge crowd anticipated, all seats for the inaugural contest have been reserved officials said today.

Dedication ceremonies for the new lighting system will begin with a band concert by the Mansfield Senior high school band and the American Legion drum corps. The ceremonies will begin promptly at 7:30 p. m.

Following the music, a number of speeches by school officials and prominent officials will be made.

Superintendent of schools, W. L. Miller will address the gathering, thanking the citizens for their support in the new project. Mayor W. J. Locke will respond on behalf of the citizens of Mansfield.

Formal presentation of the lights will b made by Jesse Beer, principal of Mansfield Senior high school, and Dr John S. Flattery, representative from the school board will respond

Following the talks, a flag-raising ceremony will be held with the high school band and the Legion drum corps furnishing the music.

The ceremonies will be closed with the singing of "God Bless America" by the entire gathering. The song will be led by A L. Derr, Senior high school vocal instructor

45 Enrolled For Kindergarten At Friendly House

Russell Gimbel, Friendly House director, announced today that 45 children will enter the settlement kindergarten classes Monday when the kindergarten opens for the 1940 season.

Gimbel also said today that 20 more youngsters had to be put upon the waiting list this year because the school is equipped to handle only 45. As vacancies occur throughout the year those included on the waiting list will be admitted to the classes.

Miss Dorothy Corrigan, the new kindergarten teacher came to Mansfield this week from Cleveland to take charge of the classes Monday, Gimbel said.

Regular Friendly house clubs and classes will begin their fall program Sept. 30.

WHY TAKE CHANCES?

Over the past 20 years Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has helped millions to keep "regular"

Delicious — with milk or cream!

Before you buy a laxative cereal these are some of the things we think you should know. What's the proof that it's really good? How's it made? Has it stood the test of time?

This is ALL-BRAN record For 20 years Americans have looked to this famous cereal as an answer to the problem of common constipation (due to lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet)

What research has shown

Distinguished medical men in famous universities have proven over and over again its effectiveness by research Many physicians have prescribed it Millions of people have used it

A million a day

And, now, more than one million Americans every day eat this crisp, delicious breakfast food. Why don't you try it, too? It is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Proven by Research
Proven by Time
Proven by Millions of Users

YOU CAN HAVE CONFIDENCE IN ALL-BRAN

CIRCUS TROUPER

Performer Loses Thumb But Goes on With Show.

PHILLIPSBURG, Pa.—(INS)—Spartan stoicism is not dead.

At the recent Osceola Mills Firemen's Fair, Torrence and Victoria, former featured aerialists with Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus, were going through their act—Torrence swinging from a trapeze by his feet and holding his spinning wife by a rubber strap which they both clamped with their teeth.

As the pair whirled dizzily 100 feet in the air, Torrence's thumb caught in the ropes. The thumb was ripped off completely and fell to the ground amidst gaping spectators.

Torrence stiffled a cry which would have plunged his wife to certain death. With blood spurting from the injured hand, Torrence kept his grip on the rubber strap until an assistant climbed up and lowered them with a rope.

THEATERS

Oil Field Drama.

"Boom Town," which comes to the Ohio Saturday, is a cavalcade of oildom as "Test Pilot" covered the dramatic story of testing thrills in the sky. It is a dramatic story of two friends who carry on through reversals and successes even when one marries the sweetheart of the other. Through this story run scenes of roaring gushers, flaming oil fires whiffed out with TNT and blistering fist fights. The cast includes Spencer Tracy, Claudette Colbert, Hedy Lamarr and Clark Gable.

* * *

Newspaper Intrigue.

Coming Saturday at the Madison will be "Foreign Correspondent," starring Joel McCrea, Laraine Day, Herbert Marshall, George Sanders and Robert Benchley. The drama of mystery and intrigue is in recognition of the intrepid group of American newspapermen who are serving the nation as eyes and ears during the Europeon debacle, risking their lives daily in order to keep their own people informed of the rapidly shifting panorama of war.

* * *

Story of Arsonist.

"The Last Alarm" is a thrilling story of a retired fireman, who instead of taking life easy, finds himself more than busy hunting a dangerous arsonist who has been setting fire to a series of large buildings. Seen in the cast are Polly Ann Young, J. Farrell MacDonald, Warren Hull and Mary Gordon. The co-feature at the Park is "Rocky Mountain Rangers," starring the three mesquiteers.

* * *

Three Mesquiteers in Trouble.

The three mesquiters, Robert Livingston, Raymond Hatton and Duncan Renaldo, are also to be seen at the Ritz through Saturday in "Covered Wagon Days." The second attraction is "Flight Angels," a thrilling story of the airline hostesses. Wayne Morris, Dennis Morgan, Jane Wyman and Virginia Bruce have the leads in this romantic tale of the careers of Flight Angels.

Tim McCoy in Western.

Tim McCoy is the star of "Gun Code," one of a series of the big-thrill Westerns, which is showing today and Saturday at the Majestic. The star is seen as a frontier marshall who comes on the scene at the cow-town of Miller's Flats just as his dad and the editor of the weekly paper have been murdered by members of a band of blackmailers. "The Secret Seven," a crime drama, with Florence Rice and Barton MacLane in the cast, is the co-feature.

SHINE BOX MUSIC.

THOMPSONVILLE, Conn. (U.P.)—An enterprising lad is Jimmy Triano, the bootblack. He added a portable radio to his shine box so customers could enjoy their favorite sports or music program while he polished their shoes.

Richland Given $2,126 In State Levy Revenues

Richland county and its subdivisions had received $2,126 from the state today as their share of the August collections of beer, malt, and admission taxes.

The funds must be used to retire relief bonds, and Mansfield, with the heaviest indebtedness, will get more than half of the money.

The remainder will be distributed to Madison township and Shelby. The county, which has virtually paid off its old relief bonds, will get only six per cent of the allocation.

If cities, counties and township relief areas have no relief indebtedness they are authorized to use the beer and admission tax money for current relief expenses.

In Sweden trial by jury only exists for affairs of the liberty of the press.

RESOLUTION NO. 40-162

By Mr. Kyle:

Declaring it necessary to improve Grover Street by the construction of a sanitary sewer to serve the property on said street between Sturges Avenue and Lexington Avenue.

Be it Resolved by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, Three-Fourths of all Members elected thereto concurring:

SEC. 1.—That it is necessary to improve Grover Street by the construction of a sanitary sewer to serve the property on said street between Sturges Avenue and Lexington Avenue.

SEC. 2.—That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvement heretofore prepared by the City Civil Engineer and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service, be and the same are hereby approved.

SEC. 3.—That the whole cost of said improvement, less one-fiftieth of the total cost in proportion to the benefits resulting from the improvement shall be assessed upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit: all lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specifically benefitted by said improvement; and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of printing, publishing and serving the necessary legal notices, the printing and publishing of the necessary resolutions and ordinances, the cost of construction and inspection together with interest on bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures.

SEC. 4.—That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as borne by the bonds to be issued therefor; provided that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days from and after the passage of the assessing ordinance in which case said cash assessment shall not include any item of interest upon bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred installments of assessments.

SEC. 5.—That bonds of the City of Mansfield shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal therein.

SEC. 6.—That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement, not specially assessed, together with the cost of any real estate or interest therein, purchased or appropriated, and the cost and expense of any appropriation proceeding therefor, and the damages awarded any owner of adjoining or abutting lands and interest therein, and the cost and expense of such award shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in the manner provided by law.

SEC. 7.—This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed Sept. 10, 1940.
Signed: HOWARD G. MILLER, President of Council.
Approved: W. J. LOCKE, Mayor.
Attest: WM. J. BEER, JR., Clerk of Council.

The financial district speculated as to the kind and amount of financing the United States treasury is likely to undertake this month.

Holders of building supply shares noted reports that current construction operations were at their highest levels in recent years in rising activity covering the whole nation.

STILL IN USE

Quarter-Century Old Auto Traveling Landmark.

NEW YORK—(NS)—The Milburn Light Electric car owned by E. Eugene Hawkins of East Patchogue, Long Island, vintage 1917, has traveled 70,000 miles to date and is still going strong.

The car, nearly a quarter of a century old, is used almost daily and has become a perambulating landmark on the thoroughfare of Patchogue.

The Milburn is operated by means of a controller having four speeds forward and two reverse. A 22 cell storage battery provides the power. It is driven at the rate of about 15 miles per hour.

The dashboard of the car is equipped with a speedometer, a voltmeter and an ammeter. The latter indicates the "pull" when the car is in use. The battery is recharged twice weekly, a charge lasting about 70 miles.

Hawkins claims that the car has never been towed but "on occasions has come limping home."

SECOND ATTACK ON BUCKINGHAM MADE BY NAZIS

King, Queen Escape Bombs; Downing Street Area Also Hit By Germans.

swarmed up from shelters and the subways where many had been caught on their way to work early this morning. Transport services resumed operation at full capacity.

The German bombers, making the longest daylight raid of the war, dodged through the clouds over London to drop bombs with sufficient regularity to cause dislocation of all normal life.

The Nazis appeared to be attempting to retaliate for the alleged British bombardment of the Reichstag in Berlin.

(This indicated that bombs had hit or fallen close to the great parliament buildings on the Thames in the center of London, but the censorship apparently prevented full explanation.)

Previously, early Tuesday, a delayed action bomb had exploded beside the palace, damaging the north wall and wrecking the swimming pool used by Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose.

When the "all clear" signal was sounded at 1:56 p. m. after five hours and ten minutes of alarm during the day's second daylight raid, it was impossible to approach Buckingham palace to ascertain the damage done by German bombs.

Streets in that area were roped off. (Buckingham palace is half a mile down Birdcage walk from the parliament buildings. Downing street, where the government buildings are located, is at the east end of the park.)

Thousands of persons took shelter in the subways during the daylight raid.

Fire engines began racing through the streets as the second daylight raid of the day passed the 2½ hour mark, and the rattle of machine gun fire could be heard above the clouds as British fighters battled the Nazi invaders.

The fact that today was Friday the 13th began to rouse comment as it became apparent that the Germans were attacking with determination.

They were taking advantage of clouds to use night tactics, sending single planes to circle the London area and, occasionally sweeping for a few seconds beneath the clouds, to drop their bombs.

A bomb container burst above a west London area and sent incendiary bombs flying over the district. Some were put out promptly.

The first daylight air raid alarm came at 7:35 a. m. at the peak of the morning rush hour, only one hour and 50 minutes after the end of an eight hour and 34 minute dusk to dawn attack in which the capital's new defense system kept all but a few raiding planes to the outskirts.

Damage in the central part of town, it was reported after a preliminary survey, was almost negligible.

Guided by a new predictor technique which, it was understood, operated by sound and automatically aimed guns to the spot where a shell should strike an approaching plane, London's guns had won their second test with the invading planes.

But danger from delayed action bombs, which still menaced St. Paul's cathedral and caused the blocking off of many streets including Regent street at its most crowded point between Picadilly and Oxford Circuses, remained a dangerous menace and pedestrians stepped warily around roped off areas.

Unable to penetrate the heart of the city, the Germans dropped bombs in the suburbs all round, but damage was less than on previous nights and it was indicated that casualties would prove few.

The raiders were much more active in provincial areas than they had been for several days.

Several areas were raided for long periods. A Midlands area had its longest raid of the war. High explosive and incendiary bombs dropped over a wide area and damaged homes and a hospital for mental cases.

Several bombers attacked a convoy off the east coast of Scotland late last night but all vessels escaped undamaged.

DIES AT HOME

TEETH RETURN FOR BIG STEAK

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa.—(AP)—Claude Skinner's false teeth finally have caught up with him.

He lost them while swimming in the surf at Ocean City, N. J., last month. He figured they were goners, but waves washed them ashore, and a hotel clerk mailed them back.

Today is Friday the 13th, but Skinner just laughed. That's because he was able to tackle a big steak for the first time in four weeks.

ITALIAN BOMBS SIGNAL DRIVE AGAINST EGYPT

Day and Night Raids Reported Made on Military Objectives Along Coast Line.

or already were converging upon main military objectives in Egypt over three main routes. The main push would be attempted along the Egyptian coast by two armies from Cyrenaica and the third would attempt to cut across the Sudan.

Should the coastal armies succeed in reaching and cutting the Suez Canal Britain's life line to India and empire in the far east would be severed.

It was reported that Italian African operations coincided with the setting in of cooler weather, making possible the employment of tanks, which could not be used extensively during the African summer.

British bases in Egypt, such as Sollum, Sidi Barrani, Marsa Matruh and Alexandria have been subjected to heavy Italian aerial bombardment for nearly a week. The Italians also have given considerable air force attention to the coastal railroad linking Alexandria and Marsa Matruh.

Believe Iron Guard Planning Coup

BUDAPEST—(INS)—Amid new anti-government demonstrations in Bucharest, pro-Fascist iron guards today were reportedly planning a coup d'etat against the Rumanian government.

Openly defying a ban on uniforms ordered by Rumania's new dictator, Gen. Ion Antonescu, thousands of iron guarders last night thronged Bucharest streets singing seditious songs.

Fears that the iron guards, storm center of Rumanian politics for the past decade, would attempt to oust Antonescu and seize control of the government were expressed in dispatches reaching Budapest which said that a "show down" between the new dictator and Horia Sima, leader of the iron guards, was inevitable.

Antonescu, seeking to keep the situation under control, issued a new appeal to the iron guard to respect and preserve public order by discipline and self-control.

Despite this appeal serious disorders were expected tonight and great numbers of troops were concentrated in Bucharest.

Report Italians Mass 25,000 Troops

CAIRO, Egypt—(AP)—Italy massed troops — reportedly 250,000 strong—along the Libyan-Egyptian frontier today and border artillery roared in crescendo as British and Egyptians prepared to meet the long-heralded Italian thrust to the east.

Military observers in Cairo predicted the Fascist drive would come within a week and coincide with Adolf Hitler's projected attempt to invade England.

Firing between British and Italian advance units echoed ominously last night as British reconnissance fliers reported movements of fresh troops from the interior of Libya to the port of Bardia, only 30 miles from the Egyptian border.

Two factors led observers to believe Italy would strike soon:

1. Weather conditions are considered more propitious now that the blazing heat of the desert summer has subsided.

2. Marshal Rudolfo Graziani, commanding the Italian forces, is believed by the British to have abandoned hope of getting reinforcements from home across the Mediterranean in the face of the British naval blockade of the Libyan coast. Thus, the British feel, he must try for a decisive blow before dissipating his ammunition and equipment in desultory fighting.

Albania Set To File New Demands

TIRAN (INS)—The national Albanian assembly will be convoked in the near future to consider territorial demands on Greece, it was learned in reliable government quarters today.

The assembly will discuss Albanian minorities presently in the provinces of the homeland. It is understood the government will demand the whole Greek province of Camuria and part of Janina.

Government quarters in this Italian-occupied capital point out that the only Balkan countries in which minority agitations remain unsettled are Greece and Yugoslavia.

Rumors that Italian Foreign Minister Count Ciano will address the assembly were discounted. Rome's only interest it was explained, is to remain vigilant and prepared to frustrate any British attempt to land troops at Salonika on the Aegean sea.

Nazi Casualty His U. S. Pal

Walter Fischbach of Chicago picked up a local paper and looked at a picture of a young German pilot shot down over the English channel and rescued by a British patrol. Fischbach looked twice and then decided that the young pilot wasn't a German, but Kurt Mueller, 17, a Chicagoan with whom Fischbach had lived for 16 years. Mueller went to Germany in March, 1939, with his father, who was intent on returning to his homeland. Mueller was born in the United States.

Reports London Scene of Chaos

BERLIN — (AP) — London is chaos, according to Hans Rechenberg, economic minister Walther Funk's right-hand man who has taken part in several of the German air raids.

Summing up his personal impressions in an interview today, Rechenberg asserted that one dock section of London had been splotched by fires, ploughed by bombs and blanketed by smoke that a low flying scout found no anti-aircraft batteries in action within it.

Rechenberg suggested that the heat was so fierce and the smoke so choking that no gunner could remain at his post along the Thames river front.

"Summing up my personal impressions," he said, "I can only say that London is already a scene of chaos. And remember this is only the beginning.

"Throughout greater London and all along the outskirts, industrial plants alternate with warehouses, electric power plants, gas and oil tanks and munitions dumps. All these are doomed as our attacks continue.

"Ordered life in the British capital is well-nigh impossible," Rechenberg declared.

Gigantic Fires Seen At Bremen

LONDON—(INS)—Gigantic fires started by British air raiders today were reported covering Bremen, Germany's second largest seaport, with a virtual blanket of smoke and flame.

Returning from fan-flung attacks, R. A. F. pilots said that nearly all the docks, warehouses and yards at Bremen were burning and that the fires, viewed from the air, looked like a single terrific conflagration, casting a glow that could be seen from the German-Netherlands frontier.

The destructive raids on Bremen marked a series of renewed assaults by British bombers against Nazi invasion preparations on the French coast of the English channel and against targets in the reich's largest cities, including Berlin.

One Nazi supply ship was said to have been sunk and two others were reported damaged as a result of the British raids against German-held invasion "springboards."

The R. A. F. blows against German shipping along the French coast coincided with attacks on Bremen, Wilhelmshaven and Berlin as well as other German cities.

Tempelhof airdrome at Berlin, Europe's largest airport, the Anhalter and Potsdam railway stations and anti-aircraft batteries in Berlin's Tiergarten were said to have been blasted by demolition and incendiary bombs.

HOUSE SPEAKER BANKHEAD RESTS

Enters Naval Hospital; Reported Exhausted By Duties.

WASHINGTON —(INS)—Speaker Bankhead, who collapsed shortly before he was to have addressed a political rally in Baltimore Tuesday night, was in Naval hospital in Washington today for "rest and quiet."

The 66-year-old Bankhead, who was confined to his hotel room in Baltimore since his collapse, which was brought on by a sciatica attack, drove to the capital with Mrs. Bankhead.

"He is just exhausted," said Mrs. Bankhead, "and needs rest and quiet."

PROTECTION

Church to Aid Concientious Objectors Advocated.

DELAWARE —(U.P.)— A proposal that the church protect conscientious objectors against prosecution for their opposition to war lay before delegates to the Northeast Ohio Methodist conference today.

The recommendation was submitted by the conference's social service commission and a decision was expected early next week.

Assignment of pastors in the conference also will be announced next week.

Dr. Herbert J. Burgstahler, president of Ohio Wesleyan university, told delegates that the duty of a denominational college was "to bring out the various potentialities lying within each steudent and direct these toward a christian objective."

SHORTAGE FOUND

Former Newark Deputy Sheriff Faces State Charge.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Two state examiners reported today to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson that they had discovered a shortage of $3963.34 in the accounts of Wayne L. Smith, former Licking county deputy sheriff.

A finding against him for that amount was returned in a report of a special examination covering the period from Oct. 6, 1938 to Aug. 5, 1940. The report was submitted by Examiners Paul V. McDonough and Earl H. Dixon.

Smith, who was dismissed by Sheriff L. D. Hague when allegations were reported to him, had been in charge of foreclosures, partitions and execution sales. The examiners said he had withheld money received from sheriff's sales.

Although they found him entirely responsible the finding was made jointly against him and the sheriff since the sheriff is officially responsible for the acts of deputies.

JUDGE DIES

KENT —(UP)— Portage county Common Pleas Judge Carl H. Curtiss, 68, died of a heart attack at his home yesterday. Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

His death occurred as a special grand jury investigation instituted by Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert opened into dog track gambling in Portage county. Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the state supreme court, assigned Trumbull county Common Pleas Judge Lynn R. Griffith to act during the grand jury session until Governor Bricker appoints a successor to Judge Curtiss.

FIFTY PERSONS BELIEVED DEAD IN EXPLOSION

35 Bodies Recovered, Others Missing in New Jersey Powder Blast.

Klan-German-American Bund meeting at the Bund's Camp Nordland, 10 miles from here.

The workers said that FBI men had watched the meeting and had noticed several cars bearing the small identification plates issued to munitions plant workers, entering the Bund camp. A check-up of these identification plates led to the dismissals, according to the workers.

W. C. Hunt, operations director of the plant, where 50,000 pounds of smokeless powder had exploded, insisted, however, that "we do not suspect anyone."

The investigators sought any shred of evidence that this was another "Black Tom" case.

Maj. Charles H. Schleffel, of the state police said, "some of the people employed in that (Hercules) plant did not look so good." Hunt said, "we checked very thoroughly the lists of German American Bund members supplied by Sheriff Denton J. Quick of Sussex county (location of Camp Nordland) and we failed to find a single Bund member on our payrolls. I am satisfied that there is no sign of sabotage."

The disaster began in a unit completed only last week, the solvent recovery building. It was a one-story brick structure, 150 by 40 feet, with a corrugated iron roof, where 16,000 pounds of smokeless powder was being subjected to a "drying out" process. Survivors from nearby buildings said there was first a dull roar, followed by flames from the windows of the solvent recovery building, then an earth-shaking blast that tore the building to pieces. A few seconds later there was another terrific blast as seven more buildings in the production line, containing 34,000 pounds of explosive, were touched off.

The two great explosions, at 1:30 p. m. yesterday were heard for 50 miles and shook buildings in New York and Connecticut, 75 miles away. Many townspeople here were injured by glass flying from shattered window panes.

Rescue workers believed that the casualty list would grow all day. Some of the ruins, covering more than a square mile, had not been explored for bodies, and several of the injured were near death.

The dead were laid in an improvised morgue, the injured distributed among hospitals at nearby Dover and Morristown. Most survivors were dazed for hours, and none had a clear idea of what had happened.

Hunt said that the plant had employed from 1,000 to 1,200 men working in three shifts and that about 400 were on the grounds at the time of the explosion. There were 75 in the solvent recovery plant and approximately 30 in the other seven buildings of the production line. The solvent factory unit had been put into operation last week when production was stepped up and 97 more men put to work to speed up government defense orders.

CITY'S ALIENS KNOW ANSWERS

took the test did a good job answering historical questions too, and others showed a thorough knowledge of the Constitution and the methods used to amend it.

Pupils in the WPA citizenship classes in Mansfield—126 of them—are required to learn the preamble and all the amendments to the constitution, the names of city, state and federal officials, and functions of the executive, legislative, and judicial sections of our government.

After making a good score in state and national affairs, one pupil last night was stumped when Examiner Ross Sciarratta asked him to name the county seat of Richland county. With some coaching from the sidelines, the puzzled applicant finally said it was Mansfield.

An Italian-born applicant said he wanted to be a citizen because he can "make a better living in America."

He said he served in the Italian army during the World war, but would be willing to die for the United States and he wouldn't want to be in Italy now.

Another applicant, born in Germany, said she came to America because she could find freedom here, and that meant a great deal to her.

All of the applicants who were questioned about Communism, said they would have nothing to do with the Communist party because they believed it would tear down our democratic form of government.

Applicants for citizenship who went before "Judge" Olmstead were required to provide two character witnesses just as they would in an actual naturalization test. Mrs. Christine McCreary, a teacher in the Mansfield WPA citizenship school, was court bailiff, bringing the applicants and their witnesses into the courtroom.

LISTS 'MADAME DORTHEA' AMONG NEW VOLUMES

Library Also Has Biographical Sketch of Willkie, His Stand on Important Issues.

Sigrid Undset's latest novel, "Madame Dorthea" has been translated from the Norwegian language by Arthur G. Chater, and it is now on the list of new books at Mansfield Public library. Set in an 18th century Norway province, it deals with the disappearance of Thestrup, the husband of the title character.

In answer to questions of Wendell Willkie's career, character and personality, as well as his stand on important issues of the day is a collection of speeches and writings by him, accompanied by a biographical sketch, written by Stanley Walker.

Other new books are: MAID NO MORE by Helen Simpson tells of the adventures of two English women evangelists and an Oxford don on board the Nonsuch a slaver, sailing for Barbados in the days of Oliver Cromwell. The antagonism between Mary Askill and John Conisby continues with mounting tension as mutiny, howling outbreaks of the blacks, and a West Indian hurricane race with the Nonsuch to its destination.

GEESE IN THE FORUM by Lawrence Edward Watkin is an amusing account of faculty life in a small Southern college town at the end of the prohibition era. OTHER FICTION: INTRUDE NO MORE by Creed. OLD LOVER'S GHOST, Brown; WHO'S AFRAID, Holding.

NEW ENGLAND, INDIAN SUMMER by Van Wyck Borrks is a sequel to his Pulitzer prize-winner, The Flowering of New England. This second volume covers the literary history of New England from the time of William Dean Howells to that of Amy Lowell, Robert Frost and Edwin Arlington Robinson. Mr. Brooks calls this period "a battleground of permanence and change."

IN SEARCH OF COMPLICATIONS by Eugene de Savitsch, M. D. is an exciting yet reflective tale of de Savitsch's life. From the moment that he travels east on the last train out of Petrograd during the Russian revolution until he finally hangs up his shingle in Washington, D. C., he is constantly on the move. Faced by war, starvation, despair, failure, loneliness, and ultimately achievement the author has made the book poignant as well as distinguished.

LETTERS OF ASKANCE by Christopher Morley is a collection of short essays and sketches with a litery, humorous flavor. There is a variety for every taste, from the famous Chevvy That Hung Her Head to Courting John Donne.

OTHER NON-FICTION: SONG IN THE MEADOW by Roberts; IMMORTAL LYRICS edited by Strode; PULITZER PRIZE PLAYS edited by Cordell and Cordell; STORY OF SURGERY, Graham; MICHELANGELO, Brion; VICTOR HERBERT, Kaye; AMERICA'S SYMPHONY ORCHESTRAS, Grant and Hettinger; LIBRETTOS OF THE FRENCH AND GERMAN OPERAS; METROPOLITAN OPERA 1883-1935, Kolodin; MASTERING THE RIFLE, Fisher.

Win Certificates For Junior High Journalism Work

Three former students and one student still attending John Simpson Junior high school were awarded certificates for outstanding achievements in Junior high school journalism recently by the Kent State university department of journalism.

First place certificates were awarded Frederick Morey, 1939 editor of the John Simpson Times, and Rosemarie Feeman. Morey won his award for the best news writing performance of the year and Miss Feeman won her award for the best interview.

David Flockencier, last year's sports editor, and Mary Jane Hurst both won second place awards. Flockencier won a second place in sports writing and Miss Hurst in feature writing.

Morey, Flockencier and Miss Feeman are now 10 B students at Mansfield Senior high school, while Miss Hurst is still a student at John Simpson.

Junior high school papers from the North Central Ohio district participated in the competition and the stories were judged by Kent State officials during the summer.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—You walk on the set and hear a familiar tune with a lilt in it, and you know those two purveyors of musical nostalgia, Anne Neagle and her producer-director, Herbert Wilcox, are at it again.

The tune is "Tea for Two" and the picture is "No, No, Nanette!" There's another tune called "I Want to Be Happy" and still another from which the movie takes its title, and they'll all be in the movie just as they were in the play.

When the Neagle-Wilcox team toured with "Irene," their first revived old-timer, they found that the only thing wrong with the old tunes was that the paying customers couldn't get enough of them. Those "Nanette" tunes, like those of "Irene," have lasted through the years and still are played on the air—still were played, that is, until recently. For six months, by order of Wilcox, the "Nanette" music is off the air to freshen it up, so to speak, for the Christmas release of the movie.

* * *

Sometimes, on the set where Miss Neagle and her leading men, Richard Carlson and Victor Mature, are dancing in ballroom scenes, you can't hear the music. You can see the orchestra playing, led by a rotund, chubby maestro, but you can't hear anything but dialogue. Which brings us to Manny Harmon and his "silent" band.

For 15 years Manny and his nine good men have been fingering and blowing instruments nobody hears. Long ago directors gave up trying to record music on sets during film action. They record it first—usually with large orchestras—and then shoot the picture to "playbacks" of the recordings. And that's where Manny and his trained musicians come in—to be photographed as they play to match the music.

They're real musicians, too. Between pictures they take engagements at clubs, banquets, and the like. They all have union cards, even have a theme song for between-scenes. It's "Tea for Two." And you know what happened? The first time they struck it up on the set where it belongs they couldn't strike it up. One of the men—a new one—had lost his music!

* * *

Brief description of the moral status of all the characters in "High Sierra" by Humphrey Bogart, who plays the "heaviest" of the lot: "There's one good guy in it—that's the dog!"

Odd that in the current oil-field cycle, with pictures full of oil, so many of the plots should creak. . . . Promising teaming: Alfred Hitchcock's direction and Bob Montgomery's style in "Mr. and Mrs. Smith"—with Carole Lombard in it too. . . . Paramount should groan when it sees "Brigham Young" with Dean Jagger, ex-Paramounter. . . . Watch for Dennis Morgan (ex-Stanley Morner) to surprise you in "Kitty Foyle." . . . Shirley Temple is "out" as far as stage offers are concerned, but there'll likely be a movie announcement before too long. . . . Stanley Smith, lately on air and stage, is coming back with Bob Taylor in "Flight Command."

SALVAGE SCRAP

Use of Old Tin Cans for U. S. Defense Program Seen.

DETROIT—(U.P.)—Salvaging by the Federal government of waste paper and old tin cans from rubbish collections for possible use in the defense program was seen when Detroit DPW officials submitted to federal authorities figures on amounts collected and cost of salvaging.

City Engineer George R. Thompson estimated that about 31,500 tons of wastepaper is collected annually.

Of this amount 9,000 tons is disposed of in rubbish dumps, and this material could be salvaged at a cost of about $20,000 a year, in addition to the capital cost of a plant estimated at $30,000.

The 25,000 tons of tin cans collected a year could be salvaged and baled at a cost of $100,000, and an additional 1,100 tons of other scrap metal which is now given or sold to dealers could be made available.

COUNTY RELIEF COSTS DROP TO LOW FOR YEAR

Expenses for August Total $8,817, or $904 Less Than Costs in July.

Relief costs in Richland county, exclusive of Shelby, showed a decided decrease during August, dropping to the lowest figure in the past 12 months, Relief Director J. V. Finney reported today.

Total encumbrances for the month were listed at $8,817, or $904 lower than the July expenses which totaled $9,722. August expenses were the lowest since August 1939 when the costs totaled $8,510.

Finney reported the city's share of the costs at $4,003, or $27 less than was spent in July. The caseload dropped from 208 families in July to 205 families last month.

The county costs were listed at $1,831, or more than $200 below July expenses. The caseload showed a decrease of 18 families, a total of 129 reported in July as against 111 in August.

Major portions of the decrease in costs was attributed to medical expenses which decreased $545 last month. A total of $1,347 was spent for medical care for indigents in August as compared to $1,892 the month previous.

Although the city's medical expenses showed a $5 net increase, jumping from $709 in July to $714 in August, the county figure dropped from $1,183 in July to $633 last month.

In addition $1,625 was listed for administrative and non-administrative costs, including rental on relief office, salaries and purchases.

Finney reported that 1,121 garments, produced at the cost of $383 were made by workers on the WPA sewing project and turned over to the relief administration for distribution.

During the month nearly 20 tons of surplus commodities were purchased and distributed to relief clients. These included flour, raisins, corn meal, lard, prunes, butter, cereal, eggs, beans, salt pork and pears.

GREAT GRANDMOTHER.

OROVILLE, Cal. —(U.P.)— Mrs. Adelia McAnulty, aged 51, is believed to be the youngest great grandmother in the state. She was married at 17, and had a family of six boys and six girls. Mrs. Clara Yancey, one of her daughters, was married at 16, and the latter's daughter, now Mrs. Gerald of Boise, Idaho, was married at 15 and has just became a mother at 16.

TELLS RICHLAND FARMERS THEY CAN CURB WHEAT BLIGHT NOW

Richland county farmers can save themselves a lot of trouble with smut, scab and blight infestation in their 1941 wheat by treating seed wheat now to kill the fungi, County Agent George B. Ganyard said today.

Wheat in some sections of the county was badly infected with disease this year and the infection can be carried to next year's crop through the seed that will be planted this fall, the county agent added.

Diseased kernels carry scab spores and when the wheat seed germinates the fungi can enter the young seedling and kill it before or soon after it emerges from the ground, it was pointed out.

A half ounce of ceresan, a mercury dust, used in each bushel of seed wheat just before sowing time will afford adequate protection against infection by blight and smut, Ganyard said.

He warned against using the treatment in wheat which will be used for flour or food purposes, since the mercury product is poisonous.

DEFENSE FAILS

Intruder Makes Way Through Bedroom Barriers.

PHILADELPHIA—(U.P.)—Yvonne Brady, 19, believes in total defense—but in her case it didn't work.

Miss Brady's precautions against intruders make a list worthy of the national defense coordinators. In included:

1—A lock, bolt and chain on the inside of her bedroom door.

2—A police whistle beside her bed.

3—A telephone beside the police whistle.

4—A husky, healthy pair of lungs which Miss Brady knows how to use.

Despite the precautions, Miss Brady was awakened by an intruder. She telephoned police, blew the whistle shrilly, went to window and screamed.

Police arrived; so did the whole neighborhood. The intruder, however, escaped by a rear window.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1940.

Faith is important, but so is intelligent disbelief.

For awhile longer, at least, both sides in the European war have pigeonholed the dove of peace.

The advantage of learning how to do some one thing well is illustrated by the speed and accuracy with which an expert lays bricks on a street-paving job.

Word comes that millions of locusts around Cape Cod have a letter "W" on their wings, which is being variously interpreted as meaning Willkie, War, or What.

Canada's Greater Caution

THE UNITED STATES, traditionally careless in its acceptance of immigrants, has been more careful since the last war and is tightening up a little more now, but is still easy compared with Canada. That country has always had a "show me" attitude toward newcomers who were not British already. And lately it has become even more cautious.

A heavy immigration of Germans and Italians after the last war came between 1922 and 1929. Recently the deadline for naturalization was residence in the Dominion since the latter date. Now the government at Ottawa has adopted a retroactive limit going back to 1922 and is cancelling the citizenship of all Germans and Italians who took out their papers later than September 1 of that year. After a residence of 18 years and actual acceptance as Canadian citizens for years, they must report to the police as "enemy aliens."

There is a saving clause in the regulations. Exemption may be granted in the case of any naturalized alien "able to establish his status as a loyal subject."

Time To 'Brush Up' On Constitution

APPROACH of Constitution day, which is to be observed next Tuesday, brings to mind that while the Constitution is much talked about and greatly revered, there are many people who know very little about its import or its flexibility of application to changing conditions.

Some people who turn to the Bill of Rights for their own protection seem disinclined to recognize the similar rights of other minority groups, and the safeguarding of individual liberties guaranteed under the Constitution.

"The United States was the conscious work of men's hands," wrote Lord Tweedsmuir, the late governor-general of Canada, in his autobiography. Because of that, he believed that our country was the "predestined leader" for the task of bringing about a "reign of law" both in the New World and the Old.

Perhaps the best observance of Constitution day would be to turn back to the basic law of this nation and study it in its relation to history and to the world today. That might make us less timid about problems now confronting us.

For, unless we know the significance of our own federation which recognizes the rights and individuality of the parts, but accepts the overriding interests of the whole," we cannot lead others toward a wider reign of law.

Football At Stadium Tonight

MANSFIELD football fans are to be treated to a new experience tonight at Stadium Field when the Senior high school Tygers meet the Akron West Cowboys in the first of this season's series of night games.

Night football, which came into vogue a number of years ago in association with professional football, later extended to some of the smaller colleges and finally reached to high schools.

Replacing the customary Saturday afternoon games on high school schedules, change to night games has been frankly on the basis of increasing attendance, as Saturday afternoon employment or other engagements made it impossible for many ardent football fans to attend the afternoon games.

Decision to sanction night games in Mansfield was reached only after much pro and con discussion by school authorities and not until the change had been made by many high schools in Ohio and other states.

An advantage in the late start of the innovation here is that earlier experiments have resulted in perfecting lighting arrangements to the point of assuring brilliant illumination of the entire playing field.

So it would be a good idea for you to drop in for the Stadium Field game tonight at 8 o'clock and form your own opinion of how a night football game compares with an afternoon contest.

Open Season for Promises

THOSE twin promises of the Democratic state platform—to repeal the retail sales tax and increase pensions—can scarcely fail to be appealing. They would be even more appealing to thoughtful voters were it not for the realization that increased pensions will take more money and that repeal of the sales tax will cut off around $60,000,000 a year in revenues, which must be made up in some other way unless schools, relief and local units of government suffer severe restrictions.

There is the possibility, of course, that with further spread of liquor dens in young women and children, the state operated liquor business can be made to produce sufficient additional revenues to offset sales tax losses and provide for pension increases—if pessimists can be made to understand that imbibing Democrats help to care for the needy, pay old-age pensions and keep the schools open.

A further ideal step would be to repeal all taxes and meet the costs of government from voluntary contributions—possibly with marble machines, nickel-and "pinballers" as collection agencies.

There's the case of the defeated congressman who explained his pep talk on economy: "I was a sucker for appropriations and against taxes."

Restricted Campaigning

SOME committees and clubs which have been wrestling with the question of whether or not to ask for civil liberties protection for Communist presidential candidate Earl Browder to speak in their midst will be relieved at the decision of a federal judge. The Communist leader is certain of his right to speak in the district court of New York. That means that his proposed western speaking tour will be postponed.

The judge added one interesting comment: "I don't think there is any reason why a man convicted of a crime should be allowed to engage in political activity . . . especially against the government."

THESE ARE MY JEWELS

Listen, World!

You Can't Let Them Down!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

OH, HOW I hate to get up in the morning!" How often you've said that, facing that dismal moment when you grope for the alarm clock, turn the key, then lie back for another forty winks, despising life, wishing you never had to tackle it again.

Then there's that equally detestable four o'clock slump in the afternoon when you wonder why in heck you should go on with all this drudgery . . . why not just walk out on the whole show, do as you please for a while.

Those moments of rebellion. Hours when we inwardly turn against our loved ones, when we'd gladly quit the finest job on earth. Recognize them? Sure you do! For we all have them—rich or poor, famous or obscure. There are times when we all feel fed up with our particular fate and long to chuck it. Yet few of us do. For every story you read of a quitter, there are ten thousand unsung cases of sacrifice and loyalty. How come? What keeps us plugging when we want to hit the gypsy trail?

It took me many a year to find the answer to that question. As a Noble Soul I'm the world's worst example. If there's one word I hate above all others it's D-U-T-Y. If there's one thing I particularly loath it's DOING THINGS WHEN I DON'T WANT TO DO THEM. Yet even I respected an impulse that overcame my own laziness and selfishness. Much as I longed to take the nearest exit—

I FELT I COULDN'T LET THE OTHER FELLOWS DOWN.

Meaning what? Meaning I can't walk out on the millions of decent, drudging souls who are plugging along, doing their darndest to create a fairer, friendlier world. Despite my personal restlessness, I can't let them down in their big job of civilization.

* * *

FOR, of course that's how civilization is really made. Not by the heroic escapades of a few brilliant and brave individuals, not by the inspired laws and programs of certain great leaders, but by the long, patient struggle and sacrifice of the obscure masses.

The weary fathers who forget their dreams of a fishing trip to drag themselves out of bed before dawn to milk the cows and plough the south pasture, or catch the seven forty-five into the city.

The tired, discouraged mothers who crush back the clamorous youth within them to cook the same old meals, darn the same old socks, scrub the same little dirty ears, day after day. Not the great warriors or financiers, not the dramatic leaders, actors and artists, but these forgotten ones have made and are preserving civilization.

They have made civilization as the coral reefs are made. There's nothing exciting about being one small coral creature which lives and dies in seeming futility. Yet out of the residue of billions of such small coral creatures, islands rise, continents are born. They had no individual ambitions or careers . . . they did not plan islands or continents, those small creatures.

They simply lived their lives according to an ordered plan. But that was enough. So, out of our obscure and unexciting acts, our unnoticed sacrifice and discipline, an orderly and organized society is slowly taking place.

But each one of us who ducks that sacrifice and chucks that discipline, demoralizes that order, delays that civilization, betrays the simple souls who give their own lives that a greater life may come for all.

Tiresome, maybe, to think of that. Why should we give a darn for all those drudging lives? What do we care whether civilization arrives or not? And yet we do give a darn, we do care. For whether we like it or not, we all share one common spark one common hunger, we are part of one army fighting for a common cause.

A CRUSADE

"Oh, how I hate to get up in the morning!" And how you and I both, neighbor, hate to do the dull, monotonous chores that form our daily life. And many's the time we whine to ourselves . . . "Why should we do this? What difference does it make?"

BUT IT DOES MAKE A DIFFERENCE! FOR HUMAN PROGRESS DEPENDS ON THOSE DULL CHORES, AND WE WHO SKIP THEM BETRAY THE WHOLE HUMAN RACE

Our Flag

—By HELEN LOOMIS LINHAM

Now raise our flag and let its stripes unfurl
Their glory over all sweet freedom's land;
In honest pride let every boy and girl
Point to the stars and newly understand.
Let every state look up, behold the plain
Of blue, where stars lay close in harmony,
And proudly now join in a loyal strain
Of music over peaceful towns and sea.
Behold with pride the beauty of the red,
The white, the blue, and doubly learn what they
Symbolize, each man to bare his head
In thankfulness and love, then too obey
The rules that make Our Flag the best to wave
Over men who know that Peace is brave!

Truth Out of Germany.

Hitler's address to a Berlin audience indicates unmistakably the extent to which the British blockade is effective. As heard over the radio, he said: "Once and for all, it must be made impossible for one nation to blockade an entire continent at will; that a pirate state, whenever it feels like it, can deliver 450,000,000 people to poverty and misery. We are fed up on letting England tell us . . . whether or not we may drink coffee. It is unbearable that 85,000,000 people may be punished by another nation just because 'plutocrats' in London want it so."

Der Fuehrer would not stand up before 25,000 Germans in the Sports Palace, much less say over the radio, that there is "poverty and misery" in Germany or the people are being "punished" if that were not a well-known fact. He was not telling the people at home anything they did not know, but he was letting the outside world have authentic and first-hand information on the subject. His bitter reference to the British as "night raiders" also belies the official communiques announcing the Royal Air Force is doing no damage.—Indianapolis News.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"The Real McCoy."

It is to a circumstance connected with the career of the recently deceased Norman Selby, middleweight champion around the turn of the century, known as Kid McCoy, that we owe the colloquialism "the real McCoy."

In the year 1899, it was announced in the City of San Francisco, that Kid McCoy would shortly meet the redoubtable Joe Choynski one of the toughest practitioners of the so-called manly art that ever drew on a glove.

Some time before this match a local boxer named Pete McCoy was knocked out by Joe McAuliffe.

When Kid McCoy came to town the newspapers acclaimed him as "the real McCoy," a moniker which immediately met with popular favor and got into general circulation in the sense of the genuine article.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

G-Men Were Trailing Lundeen; Suspected of Link With Berlin

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—If federal authorities probe deep enough into the crash of the Pennsylvania Central Airlines plane which carried Senator Lundeen to his death in Virginia, they may find some highly interesting facts regarding Nazi activities in the United States.

What most people do not know is that Senator Lundeen, rabid pro-German isolationist, was under investigation at the time of his death. A G-man, a department of justice attorney, and an FBI secretary were on the plane with him, and all were killed. The department of justice probably will deny that they were shadowing the Minnesota senator, but the fact is that at least one of them definitely was.

Suspicion had been directed in Senator Lundeen's direction after many mysterious visits to his office on the part of George Sylvester Viereck, famous German propagandist and reputedly a cousin of the kaiser. Viereck published "The Fatherland" during the World war, has since received fees for public relations work for Berlin, and is a self-avowed "friend of Adolf Hitler's Germany."

Viereck frequently came to Lundeen's office to inquire if certain speeches had been inserted in the Congressional Record. These speeches presumably had been written by Viereck himself or at least inspired. In fact, speeches written for the senator by his research assistants, among them Miss Izetta Robb, frequently were changed in order to give them a pro-dictatorship slant.

Viereck brought frequent gifts of candy to the Lundeen stenographers, but eventually they got suspicious and reported the mysterious going and comings of Nazi sympathizers to the Lundeen office. They also reported the presence on the Lundeen office force of a New York German girl whose German husband traveled in South America.

* * *

Mysterious Crash.

LUNDEEN was one of the isolationist bloc in the United States senate, and his speeches followed the line of the fifth columnists in the sense that they were bitterly anti-British and vigorously against American preparedness.

Justice department agents were attempting to find out the extent to which Berlin was definitely hooked up with any members of this congressional bloc when Lundeen's plane crashed.

As to the cause of the crash, air experts continue to be mystified. The plane struck a ridge in a thunderstorm, but at an unorthodox angle and at an excessive speed with throttles wide open, seemingly out of control. It was over a terrain where an emergency landing would have been possible, and the pilot had reported everything OK only ten minutes earlier. Pennsylvania Central had never had a crash before in its entire history.

Whether certain foreign agents figured that they were about to be exposed, whether G-men on the plane tangled with Lundeen in flight, or whether it was an act of God and the weather may never be known. But some of Lundeen's office force can tell a lot of things about Fifth Column activities in the United States congress.

New Farm Secretary.

THE little group that witnessed it is still chuckling over the slapstick comedy at the swearing-in of Claude Wickard as new secretary of agriculture.

The fun began when the president was unable to find Wickard's commission of office. He rummaged through his crowded desk and in the drawers. But no luck. Finally he dispatched Chief Clerk Rudolph Forster to make a search of the executive offices.

Five minutes later Forster returned, clutching the missing document. Roosevelt prepared to proceed with the ceremony—but a new hitch developed. No one was present empowered to swear in Wickard.

Whereupon the president threw up his hands in mock dismay.

"I can't administer the oath," he said. "I'm only the president. It takes a notary." Raising an eyebrow at Forster, he inquired, "Can you swear?"

Amid the roar of laughter that followed, a photographer, pointing to his colleague, suggested, "I don't know about Mr. Forster, Mr. President, but these boys are mighty good at it. Why don't you try them?"

Forster again stepped into the breach, produced Frank Sanderson, White House clerk with a notary's license, and the ceremony was completed.

FDR and Argentina.

THERE has been a lot of publicity regarding Roosevelt's conference with Argentine diplomat Leopoldo Melo over buying Argentine beef. Actually the conversation covered a lot of things besides meat.

Roosevelt promised that this country would substantially increase its imports of Argentine products; first because Argentina has suffered heavy loss of her European export market and faces an acute depression; second, because Argentina continues to buy from the United States, but this buying must fall off if she cannot sell here to obtain dollar exchange for purchases.

Discussing these problems, the president told Melo that the defense program would require heavy purchases of wool for uniforms, hides for shoes, and canned beef for the comissary. Though the government would not buy direct from Argentina, the buying from domestic sources would create new demand for imports, substantially benefitting Argentina.

There was also discussion of using a part of the new Export Import Bank fund of $500,000,000, about to be voted by congress, for trade with Argentina.

Note — Latest export figures show that Argentina has now become the leading foreign purchaser of American passenger cars.

Merry-Go-Round.

DR. FRANCIS TOWNSEND was disappointed in Wendell Willkie's acceptance speech because he didn't endorse the old-age pension plan. Several weeks ago Townsend claimed that Senator McNary had "endorsed" the plan, although actually McNary said merely that he thought the issue should receive "sympathetic" consideration. This week Townsend sourly declares that Willkie's statement favoring "adequate old age benefits" is insufficient. Townsend has been trying to arrange a conference with Willkie, so far with no luck. . . . E. B. Germany, red hot Garner booster and manager of his unsuccessful campaign, has made it up with the Roosevelt-Wallace ticket.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Sometimes the mere mention of a name turns a man's mind into a picture gallery. There are four names that have this effect on C. V. (Sonny) Whitney.

Flin Flon is one. Flin Flon is a mining camp up under the Arctic circle. You get copper there. A lot of that copper, most of it in fact, now goes to the British and American governments. It is a mine that Whitney developed with Roscoe Channing, a famed metallurgist. The name comes from an old legend that concerned the inventor of a sort of submarine who dived to the center of the earth, where he discovered gold. Flin Flon is that legendary lode, C. V. (Sonny) Whitney likes to say.

* * *

EQUIPOISE is another name that produces an immediate effect on Mr. Whitney's imagination. Equipoise was Sonny's horse; still is, in fact. He won the Kentucky Derby. He won $375,000 in purses. Today Equipoise takes his oats and his ease on the soft blue grass of a Kentucky farm. He's under the care of Ivor Balding, an Englishman and a horse breeder, who still goes to college, learning things about horses. Old Equipoise has some new shoes now. The ones he wore when he won the Derby have been silver-plated and today they are in Mr. Whitney's office, on the 58th floor of the Chrysler Bldg., where they serve as ash trays.

Mention Beryllium to Whitney and his face lights up like a Hollywood premiere. Beryllium, in a sense, is his baby. He spent a lot of money on research, developing it. Beryllium is a substance that you mix with copper to achieve a metal far stronger than steel. It's good for airplanes and machine guns.

* * *

MENTION Pan - America Airways and you will get still another gleam of interest from Mr. Whitney's eyes. At this writing he is on a return flight from New Zealand, where he and a number of publishers have gone, charting new trails. Whitney always flies the routes before they are in actual operation. He has been at it since the first World war. He was an instructor in that war. He left Yale at 17 to go to France. As chairman of Pan-America's board he flies constantly. One of his ideas, already in operation, is the training of cadets in Florida for long distance transport navigation. Navigation is important for pilots who span the Caribbean and who ply the Americas. Whitney thinks courses in training on our Gulf coast will be invaluable to future Pan-America pilots. The names of those from the eastern section selected to take these courses have already been announced in the newspapers.

A long time ago Sonny Whitney's name used to find its way into the Broadway columns, and he was not an infrequent visitor at the night clubs. His visits are rare now. Perhaps Flin Flon up under the Arctic circle, and Beryllium in Pennsylvania, not to mention Pan-American Airways and an occasion visit to see old Equipoise down in Kentucky, are reasons enough for his absence.

This Is Ohio

OHIO'S agricultural experiment station has been an important factor in the development of the state's agriculture since April, 1882, when it was established by the legislature.

A major function has been the publication of bulletins and reports for Ohio farmers on studies of corn and small grains, livestock and dairy husbandry, forestry, fruit and vegetable culture.

Since 1888, federal funds have augmented those of the state in establishing and carrying forward research and experimental work. The experiment station was first located on the Ohio State university farm at Columbus, but most experiments now are carried on at the Wooster headquarters.

A Farmer's Diary

Autumn Evening

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

AFTER the evening chores were done my wife and I drove to the top of a high hill to the south. We entered an open space from the side road and stopped in an uncultivated field. In front of us and all about the car short stalks of goldenrod bloomed in great abundance. The newly formed buds glowed a living gold in the slanting sunlight.

By the old worm fence where many panels were slowly crumbling to dust, I saw four colonies of milk weed. The gentle breeze bore their pleasant fragrance eastward. A colony of black-eyed daisies stood straight and tall, looking in our direction. A lone stray bloom of dandelion grew on a short-cropped patch of dark green bluegrass.

I watched the Monarch and the Morning Cloak wander carelessly about some robust purple thistle flowers. The autumn colors are spreading rapidly. Early grass and weeds lay close to the cooler earth and made a drabber showing. The green oak trees that stood below the hill were hushed. I did not see the movement of a leaf.

But everywhere about the slender top began the evening chorus of katydids. The deep woods on north and east rang with the sylvan melody. Perhaps these long prim insects played the earliest music of the world upon their ancient sounding boards.

"The poetry of earth is never dead." Beneath our car and everywhere about it the pleasant chorus of crickets made their presence known. I knew some were beneath the surface of the grass or entrenched within the hollows of stones. A continuous flow of sounds rose jubilantly from the cool moist earth. That much I heard, and wondered how many other sounds were beyond my ken.

The sun, a large red disk, floated silently behind a gauze of autumn haze. We watched it slowly and steadily sink down to the wooded rim. It touched the far tops of trees, and seemed to pause peering for one last time at the quiet earth. Then the upper portion showed weakly between the standing timber and was gone.

We felt that we had experienced the full meaning of those lines, "Day is dying in the west . . . ."

I'LL WAIT FOR YOU + + +

CHAPTER XVII

"Thanks for the new lease on life, Norman." Edwina was gaining control of herself. "Strange, I've always thought myself to be capable and self-sufficient. I didn't think I'd ever really need anybody. But if you'll stick by me and see me through this. . . . I was going to say I'd do something for you. But I can't now. I used to pay back favors with expensive gifts and parties. Anyway, I'll be the hardest working part-time typist you ever hired. . . ."

Her voice broke and the tears spilled over her lashes. "I know a man hates to see a girl cry. . . ."

"And I never saw a girl have a handkerchief when she was going to cry. Here's mine. Cry all you want to and then I'll take you home. You're going to sleep for two days and then you and I are going to give this town the biggest news it's had in years."

A few minutes later she found him on the veranda. With his hands thrust deep into the pockets of his dinner jacket, he was standing at the lower end of the veranda where, in the daytime, a fat little bird came to frolic in its bath.

"Norman, tell me this before you take me home. Where did you learn to arrange other peoples' lives so well? You've always had everything you wanted. Where did you learn the secret of thinking for other people? You're a riddle, too. To most people, I imagine, you're a good-looking, rich, successful young man flitting from girl to girl. . . ."

"I've learned things this summer, too, Edwina. I've learned it's easier to push somebody else over a high fence than to get over it yourself alone."

* * *

Edwina said, "I have a lot to tell you, darling." And she said it with humility and gratitude while Norman stood beside her. "If you hear a strange noise, it's a leaf of my life turning over. Tomorrow I'm going to begin on a nice clean white page."

Amy smiled and shook her head. "Edwina, is this your unique way of telling me, after getting me out of bed at this hour, that you are going to marry this young man?"

"No, darling. I'm not going to marry him even for his money." She turned to Norman. "Good night. You look dead tired. I'll explain to Amy. I don't mind the explanation. But come back after I've slept for two days."

* * *

In response to public demand, powerful lights had been installed at the water-filled quarry, making night swimming possible.

To the gay and colorful scene Norman came two nights after the newspaper announcement of Edwina's generous gift to the city, an announcement which had resulted in a flood of telephone calls and telegrams of congratulation to a calm and rested and no longer tormented girl. Norman stood on the green slope which descended to the water and smiled at the merry capers of boys swinging from ropes, Tarzan fashion, before dropping into the deep water. When he saw Carol, slim and tanned, in a blue satin bathing suit, her hair drying in the warm night wind, he hesitated before going to her, and once, as he walked toward her, stopped briefly as if he had changed his mind.

To her he was a man appearing out of a dream, a wish fulfilled.

"Hello. . . ."

"Hello, Carol. Are you alone?"

"Yes, I am." Trying to be casual and natural she said, "I usually see some one out here I know but tonight everybody apparently had other ideas. Alan was coming out for me but Mrs. Christian, who is in charge of the bathhouse, just came out to tell me that Alan phoned he isn't coming. Something came up unexpectedly at the office and he's with a client. Aren't you going for a swim?"

"I didn't bring a suit. I was over at the club and heard about the new lights. Just drove over."

How to be casual and natural, how to be with him as she had been in the beginning, how to say lightly, "Still a lonely man?" or "Won't you sit down, Norman?" But the words stuck in her throat and her heart hammered. Why didn't he go and leave her with all her fine resolutions that she was for Alan and he for her? If Norman lingered, those fine resolutions would crumble to nothing and she would climb to dangerous heights again. The years ahead, safe years, would be unimportant and only a moment, this little moment, would matter. What had happened between tonight and that bright day when she knew she loved him dissolved so that it was as if they had come from that day to this night in an instant and nothing had changed. Love was wonder and magic, not reason and good sense.

* * *

When he sat down beside her and their glances met, she felt, as she had felt once before, that he could read her thoughts, stripping her of all false pretenses and weak resolutions. The dark eyes which could be so gay, which laughed when he laughed, nevertheless, were knowing eyes. She thought: I love your frown and the sound of your voice, Norman. I want your touch again. But where is Edwina tonight? My father said, after reading the paper the other night, that no one could be truly bad who was truly unselfish. But Edwina is giving everything away because she has you. If I had you, I'd feel that I had everything in you—that you, just you, would be all I'd ever want. . . .

She said, "I read about what Edwina is going to do. It's wonderful. I'm not the only person who has wondered about the interior of the house. And now everyone is going to have the chance to see the things Patrick Burke collected. Where is Edwina tonight?"

"At home. She has a big job ahead, disposing of the things, and she wants a hand in it. We're going to start on the books tomorrow. I think Mr. Lane, the president of one of the banks here, is going to buy the house. He telephoned her today. He's been wanting the house for years but he had no idea she'd sell. Perhaps this, this gesture of hers, will make people realize that Edwina isn't what they have thought she is. It's time people stopped being jealous and afraid of her and realized how fine she is. . ."

* * *

He spoke curtly but with feeling. About Edwina, she thought, he was deadly serious. And as she had scratched the surface of Alan's stoic nature, so had Norman delved beneath the surface of Edwina's recklessness and extravagance and found the girl he wanted to marry.

He said, "I'm helping Edwina get her affairs straightened out and when that's over, which should be in a couple of weeks, I'm going back to New York."

"To stay?"

Though she kept her eyes ahead, she knew that he was looking at her. "Yes. Important job coming up at the office. It'll be September in two weeks. . . . A red leaf I saw this morning reminded me that my hibernating days are almost over. It's been a summer I won't soon forget."

Nor I. . . . Nor I. . . . This was probably the last time that she would see him because he would be busy with Edwina, and people whose lives were so far removed did not often meet by chance. The last time. . . . A girl in a blue bathing suit, a girl beginning to shiver, and a young man in a dark brown suit sitting side by side beneath powerful lights while people around them chatted and laughed and swam. . . . It would never be like this again because no other night would ever be quite like this. And she would come out to the quarry year after year after year . . .

* * *

It would be so easy not to be brave, to turn to him and ask, "What did that day at the stone house mean to you, Norman? Nothing or everything? Did you kiss me because it was a nice moment to kiss a girl, any girl? And did you kiss me and say that you would love me into forgetting Alan if you could because they were passionate, dramatic words you wanted to say to a girl, any girl? Why? Tell me or else keep me guessing all my life, all my life with Alan. . . .

Instead she said, "I'm getting cold. I think I'll go in and dress."

"Have you a car?"

"Yes."

"An open car?"

"A roadster, yes. Why?"

He got up, held out his hand to her and helped her to her feet. "There's going to be a nasty storm. You have to look over the trees over there to see it. I'll wait for you. . . ."

Wait for her! And they would say a very cordial good-bye while the storm raged, she thought, as she hurried to the bath house. She changed quickly from the blue suit into a printed frock and then enclosed her still damp hair in a blue turban. Then rain began to tap on the tin roof. . . .

As she stepped from the house into the driving rain, the light in the house and over the quarry went out.

"Carol?"

"Yes. But I can't see you. . . . I can't see anything. . . ."

CAREERS TAKE EYE OF YOUTH

University Finds Thirst For Higher Education Has Upward Swing.

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — Despite an uncertain future clouded by threats of war and economic insecurity, the nation's youth are becoming more and more care conscious and thirsty for higher education, Temple University officials have found.

Announcing that applications for Admission to Temple showed a nine per cent increase this year, Registrar Millard E. Gladfelter makes the following observations gleaned from a survey:

1. Demand for business training and preparation for work in the industries lead all other education trends.

2. Teaching is coming into its own again, after years of slackening pressure toward entering this field.

3. Careers which attract women are in big demand, especially in highly-specialized fields.

"Our investigation has shown," asserted Gladfelter, "that both youths and their parents are becoming increasingly more 'career-conscious.' They come to us today knowing just what they want, as against older days when they sought advice on the choice of a career."

The registrar's report showed that the demand is for education along strictly utilitarian lines, definitely reflecting the effect of the European war and the domestic preparedness program upon educational leanings.

TWO AGENCIES SEEK OFFICES AT CITY HALL

Community Fund, Red Cross Look Over Available Space For New Headquarters.

Boards of directors of both the Richland county chapter of the American Red Cross and the Community fund today were studying plans for transferring their offices to the third floor of City hall.

This was disclosed yesterday afternoon when a delegation of board members headed by John H. Finefrock of the Red Cross board and George W. Stephens, Community fund executive committeeman, inspected the third floor quarters.

Need Larger Quarters.

The delegation was accompanied by Mayor William J. Locke and Councilman C. N. Shultz, also a member of the Community fund board.

Finefrock and Stephens said their respective organizations needed larger quarters.

The Red Cross now maintains offices in the Bowers building at Main and Fourth streets and Community fund headquarters are in the Bird building, North Main street.

The room being considered at the city building is approximately 50 feet wide and 200 feet long. It has been used at times by the city recreation department, WPA and NYA. At present only the WPA recreation project maintains a small office there.

It was suggested several years ago when the third floor was finished that municipal court and court offices be moved to the third floor but the idea was never approved.

Locke said the suggestion had been made to him that the Red Cross and Community fund offices be transferred to the room. He said he had no objection to its use by the agencies since they had agreed to renovate the quarters and put up partitions if the moving plan is adopted.

Neither would be charged rent for the office space, he said.

FACING CHARGE

George E. Scott, R. D. 2, Mansfield, will face Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court Saturday on a charge of failing to stop after an accident.

Scott was cited to appear by state highway patrolmen following a collision with an automobile driven by Russell Baker, 362 Harker street, at Ashland road and Pulver List road, Wednesday night.

STUMBLE SERIOUS

LYNN, Mass. — (U.P.) — Jeremiah O'Byrne, 35, was injured critically when he stumbled and fell into a dog's earthenware dish. Twenty-five stitches were required to close the scalp wounds he suffered in the accident.

F. D. R., Jr., Composes Lyrics

Lyrics of a new song, "The Rest of My Life," have been written by Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., who is shown above as he picked out and noted the tune for newspapermen in Philadelphia. Co-composer is Kenrick Sparrow.

RECORD CLASS IN CITIZENSHIP ENROLLED HERE

Patriotic Campaign Reason For Increase, Clerk Says; 70 Apply for Papers.

The national patriotic and citizenship campaign may give Richland county a record citizenship class when foreign-born residents go before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston Oct. 2 to take their final examination for papers.

Seventy applications for naturalization papers were received in time to be considered at the Oct. 2 hearing, but all of them may not be heard then, Norman P. Henry, county naturalization clerk, said today. If all 70 are heard, it will be a record class for the county.

"There has been a big increase in the applications for citizenship, most of it due to the enforced registration of aliens and tightening of the restrictions on aliens receiving WPA jobs and relief," Henry said.

Henry added that he had submitted the list of applications for naturalization to federal immigration authorities at Youngstown, asking how many of the applicants will be given a final hearing here in October.

Virtually all of a foreign-born residents seeking citizenship have been studying for the final examinations for several weeks in WPA citizenship classes and those conducted by Miss Henrietta Frank at the courthouse.

Applicants who pass the naturalization test Oct. 2 will receive their papers early in October from Clerk of Courts Fred R. Zellner. It is probable that a party will be given for them by the Mansfield patriotic organizations.

State Rushes Plans to Register Thousands for Draft

BRICKER GIVES COUNTY SET-UP OF OFFICIALS

Boards of Election, Judges and Medical Groups To Be Given Jobs.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—With final passage of the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill expected momentarily, the state of Ohio today rushed to completion tentative plans for registering its thousands of young men of draft age.

The plans, which of course are subject to revision by the war department, were outlined in rough draft form by Gov. John W. Bricker at his press conference.

In brief, they are as follows:

County boards of election, working under Secretary of State George M. Neffner, will have charge of actual registrations of men in the 21-35-year age bracket. Registrations will be carried out in much the same manner as an election, the men filling out military service blanks in their own precinct voting booths.

County Common Pleas Judges will be asked by the governor to recommend persons to serve on county draft boards. Their recommendations will be passed on to the president who has the final voice.

District courts of appeals will be called upon to nominate draft appeals boards to review the cases of men who feel they should not be conscripted.

In addition, the governor will recommend to the president personnel for a statewide draft board which would have general supervision in Ohio.

The Ohio State Medical Association will be asked to recommend ten or more physicians in each county to make up the medical examination division.

Bricker revealed that he has discussed with Adjutant General Gilson D. Light plans for creating a home guard to serve in the absence of regular national guard troops called to duty.

Sources close to the governor said he probably would make every effort to have General Light remain at his present cabinet post, feeling that he would be more valuable there than in the field with his national guard unit. Light, a major general, commands the 37th division.

Light's services would be needed at home in setting up the home guard and handling other phases of Ohio's participation in the national defense program, it was stated.

At 58, Light is nearing the retirement age of 64 years. He has been a member of the national guard for 41 years. He entered the World war as a private and was mustered out with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

The adjutant general has received no word from the war department concerning the date when Ohio's national guardsmen will be called for active duty.

MEDICAL GROUP HOSPITAL PLAN

County Society Puts Stamp of Approval on Group Insurance Program.

The Richland County Medical society put their official stamp of approval on the group hospitalization plan when members met for their monthly meeting at the hospital yesterday afternoon.

Dr. A. O. Funkalsrud said today that of the 25 who attended the meeting only three voted against the measure.

"The three dissenting voters went on record against the plan because they said it should not be offered in Mansfield as yet, and not because they were against the plan itself," Dr. Fonkalsrud said.

No official figures were available today as to the number of companies who have signed for the plan, because most of the week has been spent in explaining the plan to employers, Dr. Fonkalsrud said.

"Most of the actual signing up will come in the near future," Dr. Fonkalsrud explained.

Employers interested in the hospitalization plan for their employes are requested to call Leslie Fonkalsrud, official representative for the group hospitalization plan, at the hospital.

Dr. Fonkalsrud left today for Boston, where he will attend a meeting of the American College of Hospital administrators and the American Hospital association. He will be in Boston for five days.

PAYLESS PAYDAYS LOOM FOR 10 STREET DEPARTMENT EMPLOYES

Payless paydays loomed today for 10 street department employes, six of whom are already enjoying a payless two-week vacation because of limited funds for operation of the department.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said this morning that funds for the street cleaning division of the department were practically exhausted and that the workers would not be paid next Wednesday.

Payroll reports show that the amount totals $269. Crafton said that only $72 remained in the fund. He could not say what action would be taken to pay the employes.

Mayor William J. Locke explained, however, that funds were available but that they would have to be appropriated by council to meet the expense.

He said, however, that a special session of council was unlikely, the men having to wait until the October meeting of the legislators for their pay.

The payroll records show that four men have salaries for the first two weeks of September coming and the six others are entitled to one week's pay, having been laid off for two weeks last Saturday.

RETURN HOME

Mansfield Dentists Back After Cleveland Meeting.

Dr. W. H. Wolford, delegate from the Ohio State Dental society and three other local dentists, Dr. R. K. Ort, Dr. K. E. Buhr and Dr. W. J. Acomb, have returned from Cleveland where they attended the American Dental society convention.

Dr. Wolford, as official representative attended the board sessions and house of representatives meetings. More than 9,000 dentists and their wives were present from sections of the country.

Officers elected for the coming year included Dr. Willard H. Robinson, of Oakland, Calif., president; Dr. Oren A. Oliver of Nashville, Tenn., president-elect, and Dr. James V. Gentilley of Cleveland, first vice-president.

Bellville Looks For Big Crowd At Festival Tonight

With attendance Wednesday and Thursday nights below expectations because of the chilly weather, officials of the Bellville fair today hoped clear skies and rising temperatures would bring out crowds to make up the difference tonight and Saturday.

Band concerts and a football game between Bellville and LaRue high schools were on the program this afternoon.

The Saturday program will include concerts in the afternoon by the Bellville school band and "Pop" Farver's Jamboree troupe, a baseball game between Lexington and Bellville, and dancing in the evening.

A dispute over the operation of a bingo game and beer parlors on Main street where the fair is being held was settled yesterday and the establishments were permitted to operate.

The bingo game was closed temporarily Wednesday by a state inspector who said it violated the rule against games of chance at a state aid fair. It developed, however, that the bingo establishment and beer parlors were permanent in Bellville and were not operating as a part of the fair. The fair receives financial support from the state.

CONTINUATION OF BRICKER'S POLICY BACKED

Plank to Hit Davey's Plan For Sales Tax Repeal, Leaders Indicate.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—Platform planks pledging the Bricker administration to continue its "record of good government" if returned to power in November, are expected to be approved at the Republican state convention next Wednesday, GOP leaders indicated today.

Praise for Governor Bricker and Republican state officials for the "economical, graft-free" way they contend the state government has been operated since January, 1939, is to be included in the platform, the party platform drafters said.

Some Republican leaders feel they should use their platform to attack one of the principal Democratic planks: that Martin Davey, if elected governor, will attempt to repeal the sales tax which brings into the state revenue totaling $50,000,000 annually.

Republicans, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and business leaders contend that repeal of the sales tax would wreak havoc in the administration of state affairs, especially the school system, unless a new tax program were enacted to replace lost revenue.

On the old age pension issue, the Republicans are expected to "stand on the record," calling attention to the fact that the GOP-dominated state legislature at a special session last spring raises the maximum monthly payments for aged from $30 to $40 "on the basis of need."

Davey has promised that he would attempt to obtain maximum pensions of $40 per month, less net income, for every eligible person.

Meanwhile, candidates for state and national offices continue to campaign throughout the state. Tonight, Mayor Harold H. Burton, of Cleveland, GOP nominee for U. S. senator, is to begin a series of radio speeches over a state-wide hookup. He is opposing John McSweeney, of Wooster, Democratic nominee.

Davey is to begin a series of radio talks Monday night, when he is expected to answer charges made over the air by Bricker last Monday night.

NUPTIAL SHOWERS GIVEN MANSFIELDERS

Spinster Dinner Given for Miss Stephenson, Final Pre-Wedding Party Honors Miss Hershey; Several Brides Feted.

BY 'PHONE and mail we receive daily notices of additional parties for brides and brides-to-be in the Mansfield area. Last night The Woods, near Ashland, was the scene of the spinster dinner given in honor of Miss Dorothy Stephenson, bride-elect of Walter Rose, Wooster. Miss Margaret Evans, who will serve as bridesmaid Tuesday at the wedding, was hostess for the dinner and personal shower.

The table was centered with a large glass pear filled with yellow roses, and yellow roses were tied to white candles. Individual spinning wheels marked the places of each guest. A bride's book was made during the evening. A series of small personal articles attached to a ribbon led to the crystal gift from the hostess.

The Misses Virginia Fox, Mary Shafer and Jean Oswalt will entertain at Staiger's tea room for the final event honoring Miss Stephenson tonight. The nuptials will be read at 9:30 a. m. Sept. 17 at the altar of the First Presbyterian church with Rev. D. N. Roller officiating.

* * *

Mrs. Harry Case, the former Miss Betty Loch, was feted last night by Mrs. Jack Davis, Ashland road, assisted by Mrs. Albert Kipp and Miss Margaret Oswalt, at a miscellaneous shower. Bridge was played, and the prizes, which were presented to the honoree, were won by Miss Betty Ritchie and Mrs. Jacob Urschel.

Make Bride's Book.

A bride's book was made at the close of play. The table at which the guests were seated was decorated with a center piece of amber and yellow lilies, matching candles and nut cups. A lace cloth laid over a yellow fundation completed the setting. Tiny slips of paper attached to yellow streamers when read in a mirror disclosed the hiding place of the shower gifts. The hostesses presented Mrs. Case with a gift of furniture.

* * *

Games were played last night at the home of Mrs. Gerald Skeen, 234 Elmwood drive, when she entertained in honor of Mrs. Donald Skeen, the former Miss Betty White. Mrs. Carl Skeen and Mrs. Ralph Troi, both of Mt. Vernon, were associate hostesses. Prizes were won by Mrs. Donald Skeen and Mrs. Vernon Lipscomb. The 19 guests were seated at a long table decorated with yellow appointments.

* * *

Another in the series of parties honoring Miss Helen Stuhldreher, who will become the bride of Theodore Patterson next Tuesday, was given last evening by Miss Doris Bush, Mrs. Adam Meyer and Mrs. Nick Colangelo at the latter's home, 222 Penn avenue.

Bridge was in play at three tables, and score prizes were awarded to Mrs. Francis Hanrahan, jr., Shelby and Miss Patricia Stuhldreher. Later luncheon was served at a long table, centered with a bouquet of roses, asters and sweetpeas and lighted with pastel-tinted tapers. Rosebud corsages marked the individual places.

In addition to the crystal shower gifts from the guests, the bride-elect received gifts of crystal and linen from the hostesses. Miss Rosemary Herliahy of Shelby was another out-of-town guest present.

Last Party Tonight.

The final party for Miss Stuhldreher is being held this evening in Shiloh at the home of Mrs. Leland Wolfersberger. Mrs. C. O. Butner will be the associate hostess, and the affair will be a pantry shelf shower.

* * *

A kitchen shower honored Miss Mildred Hershey last night when Mrs. Bernard Randall and Mrs. John Watkins entertained at the latter's home. Bridge was played and prizes won by Mrs. Neil Swank, Mrs. Watkins and Mrs. Dale Weber. These were given to the honoree.

Refreshments were served at a long table decorated with pastel flowers. A shower of gifts was presented by the guests, and there was a hostess gift. Mrs. Weber and Miss Elvera Dibble, Shelby, were among the guests.

Miss Hershey and Edgar J. Berry will be married tomorrow at the South Main Street Evangelical church at 1:30 p. m. Following the ceremony an open house reception will be held in honor of the couple at the bridegroom's home. A post-nuptial shower is also being planned for next week.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Etzwiler, who were married last month, were honored with a linen shower Wednesday evening at their home on Sixth avenue. Mr. Etzwiler's mother, Mrs. John C. Etzwiler, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Joseph Etzwiler, were hostesses for the affair, which was attended by 30 relatives and friends.

Enjoy Contests.

Contests and cooties were the evening's diversion, and prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Clark Stutz, Mr. and Mrs. Etzwiler, Allan Martin, Joseph Etzwiler, Mrs. Jacob Herf and John Etzwiler. Luncheon was served buffet style from a table centered with miniature figurines and flowers. The guests were seated at seven small tables, decorated with yellow, orchid and green appointments.

* * *

Two recent brides, Mrs. J. M. Weil, the former Miss Vangie Zimmerman, and Mrs. Sherwood Humbert, the former Miss Eileen Wright, were honored with a dinner party given by members of El Goto club at the Wickliffe Manor Tuesday evening. The 12 guests were seated at a long table, decorated with a white floral centerpiece and other white appointments, and later they played bridge. Prizes were won by Mrs. Raymond Hayes, Mrs. W. L. Scheifley, Mrs. Robert Phipps and Mrs. Waldo German, who presented them to the honorees. Mrs. Weil received a gift of crystal from the group, and Mrs. Humbert was given a gift of furniture.

Mr. and Mrs. Weil were surprised last night by a group of friends associated with Mr. Weil in the Farmers Savings and Trust building. The group presented the newlyweds with a gift at their home on Davis road. The evening was spent socially, and refreshments were served.

* * *

Miss Marybelle Shryock, 51 Arthur avenue, entertained with a miscellaneous shower last night in honor of her sister, Mrs. Ken Woodman, the former Miss Genee Shryock. Games were played and prizes awarded. The 18 guests were seated at large and small tables decorated with fall flowers. The hostess gave the bride of Sept. 1 an electrical gift.

Church Units Have Regular Meetings At Member's Home

A number of the Mansfield church groups were in session yesterday, and preparations for fall and winter activities were considered. The Mary Markley members of the St. Paul Lutheran church were the guests of Mrs. Joseph Morganstern, 107 Ford street, last night.

"Our Church Tomorrow" was the topic for discussion by Mrs. Russell Hawk. Miss Olga Luich and Miss Katherine Miller told about their western trip and showed pictures and souvenirs of the trip.

Mrs. Richard Polkinghorn and Mrs. Peter Miller were guests. The hostess served refreshments buffet style with Miss Elizabeth Bollman pouring. The prize winners were Miss Luich and Miss Miller.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 10 with Miss Miller, 335 Central avenue, with Mrs. Morganstern giving the topic.

* * *

Ten members of the Alpha class of St. Matthew's Lutheran church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. C. Vermilya, 197 Penn avenue. Mrs. Jacob Sheriff gave the devotional readings, and refreshments were served at the close of the social hour. Mrs. Rosa DeWitt will have the meeting of Oct. 10 at her home, 199 Helen avenue.

* * *

There were 35 members of the Women's guild of St. Luke's Lutheran church in attendance at the first fall meeting at the church yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Ernest Shaffer read the devotions, and it was announced that "Women of the Bible" will be the study for the year.

Mrs. Russell Gimbel spoke on her work at the Friendly House, and music was furnished by Misses June Worley, Eileen Geisert, Norma Hammond, and Virginia Horst at one piano. Dinner was served at the close of the meeting, with Mrs. Austin Rhoads and her committee in charge. The next guild meeting at the church will be on Oct. 10.

* * *

Members of the Loyal Daughters class of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church had a steak fry at Middle park. There were 11 present for the affair yesterday. The next meeting will be held with Miss Clara Yeager, 28 South Diamond street, Oct. 10.

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

DID YOU SEE Mrs. William T. Elder and her baby son, Billy, while they were in town earlier this week? They were here visiting Mrs. Elder's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. DeWitt, for a few days, and the latter went back to Columbus with them. . . . They've been living there, you know, while Mr. Elder completed work on his M. A. degree at Ohio State university. That finished, the Elders now are going to Germantown, Pa., where Mr. Elder will teach science in the high school.

Marianne

* * *

Speaking of visitors in town, John Gano (a graduate of Senior high, who now is a midshipman at Annapolis) has been here with his roommate, William Godfrey of Pittsburgh, Pa. . . . The boys returned only recently from a two months' practice cruise on the U. S. S. New York and the U. S. S. Texas—having been in such ports as the Panama Canal, Virgin Islands, Haiti, Cuba and Venezuela. . . . They are going back to the U. S. Naval academy in Maryland now for their second year's work.

* * *

There will be five "freshies" from Mansfield enrolling in the first year classes at Denison university down in Granville this month. . . . They include Eleanor Bond, Kathleen Preston, Don A. Finefrock, Robert W. Tawse and John F. Hughes. . . . Monday will mark the beginning of the 110th school year, and enrollment will be limited to 850 students.

* * *

* * *

It is with reluctance that we bid goodbye to a Mansfield family.... Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Scott and their daughter, Louise, are leaving this week-end for San Francisco, Cal., where they will make their future home. . . . They recently returned from Pittsburgh, Pa., (where they lived until seven years ago when they moved here), having gone there to see some of their old friends before traveling on west.

* * *

And while we're talking about the West, I mustn't forget to tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hunt and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Purney have been vacationing out there. . . . They took a trip through Yellowstone, and on their arrival at the Golden Gate exposition in San Francisco found the weather extremely cool—with many fur coats in evidence. . . . Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hill are back home now, following a trip to Martinsville, Ind., where they visited with Mr. Hill's mother, Mrs. J. H. Masters—a former Mansfielder, who is 87 years young now. . . . Some other Mansfielders, who are back from vacations now are Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Wenning and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wenning, who arrived home today after spending the past week at the World fair in New York City. Driving back, they stopped in Gettysburg, Pa. . . . Mr. and Mrs. John S. Jones have returned from a sojourn at their cottage on Lake Lake, near Alpina, Mich.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Tolbert E. Smith have gone to Tulsa, Okla., for the week-end as they will be members of the wedding party for Mr. Smith's sister, Doris Joann, when she becomes the bride of Phil Porter of Houston, Tex., tomorrow. . . . They're planning to drive east again the first of next week.

* * *

ELEANOR BOND, Girl Scout executive here, is in Pleasantville, N. Y., now, attending a Professional Workers' conference opening today and continuing until next Friday, at Camp Edith Macy, the Girl Scout National Training school. . . . The sessions will see national staff members and many local executives from all over the country present, and the first meeting will be opened by Mrs. Paul Rittenhouse, national director. . . . The day will be devoted to consideration of the Girl Scout program in theory and practice—and Eleanor will speak on program practices and leadership here in Mansfield.

Dinner Program First For Hedges Association

The year's program of Hedges P. T. A. began Wednesday night with a covered-dish dinner at the school followed by a flower show and business meeting. Mrs. Gene Boling, Mrs. Fred Stall and Miss Lucile Beattie were appointed representatives to attend the P. T. A. convention in Cincinnati.

John Eisaman was the speaker of the evening. Shirley Jean Garverick gave a reading, and an accordion trio including Glenn Wendland, John Bauer and Gerald Hobart was presented.

* * *

HAVE REUNION.

A reunion picnic for members of the June 1935 graduating class of Mansfield Senior high school was held last evening in the pavilion at South park, with the class officers, Miss Helen Myers, Farnum Coffin and Richard Nye, in charge of arrangements. Miss Myers was named chairman of a committee to plan similar gatherings in the future. She will be assisted by the Misses Leila Tinkey, Martha Burkholder and Doris Simmons, David DeWitt, Peter Mott, Richard Vaughn and John Casto.

* * *

CONDUCT SESSION.

Members of the Pocahontas lodge met at the Eagle hall with Mrs. Ethel Ferrell in charge last night. There were 35 present for the business session, and the report of the Ohio Day held Wednesday at Columbus. The contest winner was Mrs. Martha Reichert. The next meeting will be Sept. 26.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT.

Announcement was made recently at a family party of the approaching marriage of Miss La Verne Van Arnhem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Van Arnhem, 189 South Mulberry street to Paul E. Gruver, Loudonville. The ceremony will be read at St. Peter's Catholic church Oct. 19.

* * *

NAME OFFICERS.

New officers of the Auxiliary to the Firemen's local have just been announced. They are Mrs. Minnie Seeburger, president; Mrs. Earl Penny, vice president; Mrs. Erland Weltmer, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Nannie Lowman, reporter. The group will meet for a banquet at Staiger's tea room Oct. 8.

* * *

NEW PRESIDENT.

With the closing of the Grand Army of the Republic encampment, which was held in Springfield, Ill. the past week, announcement was made today that Mattie R. Tucker, Cranston, R. I., was elected national president to succeed Bertha Mae Droz of this city. Mrs. Droz has been attending the session at Springfield.

Welcome Members To Mothers Club At First Session

Mrs. Allen Robinson, Mrs. R. J. Taylor, Mrs. Hugh Rusk, Mrs. John Bernat, Mrs. Lloyd Blayney, and Mrs. K. W. Epley were welcomed as new members of the Mothers' club at West Fifth street school yesterday afternoon during the first meeting of the year, which was attended by 35 members.

Mrs. Lloyd Stuck, president, was in charge, and S. K. Jorgenson spoke on "Music and the Child." W. W. Blauser, principal of the school, also gave a talk. Mrs. Robinson was the recipient of a prize, and Mrs. Kathryn E. Bancroft's room won the prize for having the most mothers present.

Refreshments were served at a long table decorated with fall flowers, and Mrs. Stuck, Mrs. J. E. Augustine, Mrs. R. B. Schoenman, Mrs. Robert Zaebst, Mrs. C. E. Flockenzier, Mrs. Karl Heilman and Mrs. A. B. Hamman were the hostesses.

The club will send two delegates to the national convention in Cincinnati next month, and they will be selected later. The next regular session will be held at the school on Oct. 17, and a Halloween social will be an event of Oct. 25 at the school.

Routine Session Held By Delta Sigma Zeta

A regular meeting of Delta Sigma Zeta was held last night at the home of Miss Marion Little, 523 Crescent road, with Jean Kelley serving as associate hostess. The new officers, Miss Theresa Sporsty, president; Miss Maxine Bush, vice president; Miss Kelley, secretary, and Miss Margaret Gage, treasurer were in charge.

Plans for rushing, and a rummage sale were discussed after which a social hour was enjoyed. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Mary Alice Mitchell, 126 Sherman avenue. Miss Gage will assist.

Departing Members Honored At Shower

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dille, 280 Dudley avenue, opened their home last night to 45 guests when a linen shower was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Casto in appreciation of their 15 years of service at the Free Methodist church. Mr. and Mrs. Casto are leaving Oct. 1 for Urbana where Mr. Casto is taking a Free Methodist pastorate.

The evening was spent socially, and refreshments were served. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Verne Zents, Mrs. George Wentz, Mrs. Harold Palmer and Mrs. John Richard.

* * *

ENTERTAINS DAUGHTERS.

Members of the Daughters of Scotland and one guest, Mrs. James McCartney, were entertained last night by Mrs. Thomas Wilson, Sloane avenue. Following the discussion of relief work games were played. Prizes were won by Mrs. James Ritchie, Mrs. William Ferguson and Mrs. Robert Campbell. Refreshments were served at small tables decorated with garden flowers. The next meeting will be held Sept. 20 at North Lake park pavilion.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES OFFER ENTERTAINMENT

Members of Card Clubs Gather at Homes Yesterday; Larkin Gaytime, We Groups Plan Masquerade; Picnic.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, September 14.

THE PLANETARY conditions ruling this day are rather conflicting. It is likely that the house may come tumbling about the ears, or other situation of a devastating or calamitous nature. It might be well to adhere to routine, as it may be difficult to put over any ambitious plans. There is a sign of delays and obstruction, with the mentality disposed to be depressed and frustrated. Tendencies to overdo should be curbed. Postpone where feasible.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a rather slow state of affairs, with matters delayed, or obstructed. Postpone where possible. Also there may be a devastating or disintegrating force in operation. The mind may fluctuate between depression and elation or generous or expansive impulses.

A child born on this day may have a generous and expansive mentality. It may have some eccentricities, although being creative in out of the ordinary run.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I WALKED slowly to Edith's bedside, and saw immediately that something devastating had happened to her since my last interview with her.

Her face was drawn and ravaged, her big eyes, formerly beautiful and lustrous, were strained with horror, and flaming with something so near to madness that I felt ice slithering down my spine.

With a gesture that held desperation and appeal, she flung her arms out toward me.

"Oh! Madge!" she wailed. "Come closer please! I've wanted you so!"

She nodded her permission to grant Edith's request, and I moved nearer to the bed, wondering frantically how I best could deal with the patently desperate need of the woman looking up at me.

Once my friend, for many years my enemy because of her hopeless passion for my husband, and just lately a remorseful patient, willing to do anything in atonement for the revenge she had plotted against Dicky, revenge which nearly had come to such terrible fruition, she was to me many women in one, and I could only wait, dully, I feared, to find out what was her latest need.

Her hands clutched mine as I reached her side, and her eyes fairly blazed their message into mine.

"Madge!" she wailed. "Are you keeping Dicky from me? I can't believe it, you have been so sweet to me, yet I cannot believe he would refuse to see me of his own free will, and that is the message he repeatedly has sent me by Miss Whitlock."

Something impelling drew my eyes for an instant to the nurse's face, and in her eyes for a flashing instant, I read comprehension of Edith's plaint, as well as contempt for her patient's meanness of spirit.

There was such a stirring of anger within me as I turned back to Edith, that I am afraid I would have permitted it to have its way, if she had not been so pitifully weak and beaten.

"Listen to me, Ede!" I said imperatively. "Dicky is not refusing to see you."

She flashed an inscrutable glance at me.

"I wish I knew," she muttered to herself, then added fretfully:

"Then it must be you, keeping him away. But why? why? I've told you that all the old past is dead, and that I'm never going to trouble you or Dicky any more. And you can rest on that now even more than ever. I'm going to die, Madge, very soon. Something deep inside my heart has warned me of that. And I must put things straight with Dicky before I go, must right a very great wrong of which he is ignorant."

I could not help a mental flash back to the letter she had sent me when we were in New Hampshire, the letter pleading that I influence Dicky to rescind his decision to dissolve the business partnership between them, and putting forth this same plea of imminent and certain death. When we finally saw her we had known that the letter was false, but I knew that I could not use that as a precedent for her present condition. Then her voice rose in another wail.

"Why? why? Madge, are you keeping Dicky from me?"

"The Authority on Authorities"

GET RID OF COMPLEXES.

Complexes of one kind or another are the bane of countless otherwise good players. We find complexes both for and against certain kinds of contracts. One player will be a No Trump hound, who seeks to get into those contracts whenever possible. Another will be afraid of No Trumps because somebody once ran a long suit against him. Still others are timid about trump suits containing only four cards, even when there are four trumps opposite. None of these pay. The one complex to keep, when you get rid of the others, is that which makes you strive for the contract which is most likely to pay the greatest profit.

	♠ A 10 5 4 ♥ A K 5 4 ♦ 9 7 4 ♣ A 8
♠ Q 9 8 ♥ J 9 8 6 ♦ J 10 ♣ J 10 7 3	N. W. E. S.	♠ J 7 3 2 ♥ 10 ♦ Q 6 5 2 ♣ K Q 9 2
	♠ K 6 ♥ Q 7 3 2 ♦ A K 8 3 ♣ 6 5 4

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT

As soon as North heard from his partner's diamonds, his No Trump complex gripped him by the throat, and he forgot all about the heart suit which he originally intended to bid on his second turn. So at 3-No Trumps he tried it against a club lead, but could eke out only eight tricks—one in clubs, two in diamonds, three in hearts and two in spades.

After South's 2-Diamonds, North's bid was properly 2-Hearts, which South would have taken to 3-Hearts and then North to 4 Hearts. Better still would have been a first round response to 2-Hearts by South to North's 1-Spade, so that the diamonds could have been bid safely on the next turn. North would, of course, have raised that, and the side would have reached a heart game. But when neither will bid his four-card major suit, the side surely can't reach the most desirable, usually, of all contracts. The heart game obviously is easy to make, with the loss of one trick each in trumps, clubs and diamonds, although both red suits are badly divided.

Tomorrow's Problem.

	♠ K 6 5 2 ♥ A Q 8 7 4 2 ♦ 7 5 ♣ 6
♠ J 9 ♥ K J 9 6 3 ♦ Q J 10 6 ♣ 7 4	N. W. E. S.	♠ Q 10 7 ♥ 10 5 ♦ 9 4 3 ♣ J 10 9 5 2
	♠ A 8 4 3 ♥ None ♦ A K 8 2 ♣ A K Q 8 3

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

With the diamond Q led, how should South play for 6-Spades on this deal?

The ocean is only 3.44 per cent salt. But parts of the Dead Sea have a salinity of 27 per cent.

Willkie Says Political 'Buccaneers' Lead Opposition

SPEAKING TOUR OF WEST BEGUN BY CANDIDATE

Pins Faith in Millions Who 'Can't Be Corrupted or Bought.'

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Declaring that "the worst gang of buccaneers ever organized in American political history" is aligned against him, Wendell L. Willkie began today a speaking campaign for the presidency which will take him throughout the middle and far west.

Before the Republican nominee left Rushville, Ind., late last night on a 7,200-mile tour, he told a cheering throng around his 12-car special train that there is a "rare combination on the other side of this fight."

The "buccaneers," he asserted, are coupled with a "high profession of noble ideals."

"Even though I face a ruthless gang of political corruptionists—Boss Hague, Kelly-Nash and Boss Flynn—I don't believe that corruption can sway the vote of the great cities.

"And I don't believe that an entrenched bureaucracy with billions of dollars to spend can influence an election.

His face lighted by flares from a torchlight procession, Willkie said that he was starting out to discuss "some of the most momentous questions which ever faced mankind" and that he went forward "unafraid."

"I still have faith," he shouted "that there are millions over the nation whom no political machine can corrupt and no federal government can buy."

In coming to Chicago for four impromptu speeches in industrial sections, Willkie was entering a city wich gave President Roosevelt large majorities in 1922 and 1936.

The Republican nominee said early this week he had heard that supporters of the Kelly-Nash Democratic organization here might organize unfriendly demonstrations.

Willkie's first talk was set for the big Chicago stockyards at 11:15 a. m. (EST) Then his route called for speeches at the Western Electric plant in Cicero, a Carnegie-Illinois steel mill and a baseball park.

Leaving Chicago tomorrow morning, Willkie will campaign from the train platform through Illinois and eastern Iowa and then spend a quiet Sunday in Kansas City. He will deliver a major speech at Coffeyville, Kans., Monday and then head for the west coast.

SUPPORTS F. D. R.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia will support the president for a third term because he prefers Mr. Roosevelt "with his known faults to Mr. Willkie with his unknown virtues."

"Roosevelt has regenerated our country," New York's mayor said last night in a broadcast sponsored by the Democratic national committee. "Roosevelt has made America the hope of the world. That is why I am for President Roosevelt."

He called upon the nation's independents and progressives to work for the president's re-election.

Richland Sends Delegation To Health Seal Meet

Four officers and delegates of the Richland County Tuberculosis and Health association were in Bucyrus yesterday to attend a district meeting of health seal representatives where plans for the 1940 Christmas health seal campaign were mapped.

In the county delegation were Mrs. H. C. Brokaw, Shelby; vice-president of the county tuberculosis and health association; Mrs. Margaret Adams and Lucile Bushey, county nurses, and Mercie C. Curry, Mansfield.

Health seal representatives from 15 north-central Ohio counties attended the session which was in charge of Mrs. F. J. Gosser, executive secretary of the Crawford County Christmas Seal committee.

A discussion of the health seal campaign was headed by Miss Frances Brophy, New York City, seal sale consultant with the National Tuberculosis association.

The 33rd annual health seal campaign to provide funds for the campaign against tuberculosis will get under way in the county late in November and will continue until Christmas.

Patrolman Paul Martin, second shift motorcycle officer, was receiving congratulations from brother officers today. Shooting in the police department's matches yesterday afternoon at the Ontario range, Martin posted a nearly perfect score of 97.2 to set a new range record. The mark had previously been held by Patrolman C. W. Kyler. The score turned in by Martin boosted his three-week average placing him in the top bracket for department "crack shot" honors.

One Mansfield couple will never go house hunting on Marion avenue again, after an experience they had a few days ago. While the owner of the house was showing them the basement, an alligator strolled nonchalantly out from behind the steps and proceeded to eye the intruders with a calm and quizzical look. The trio took one look and fled pronto. After an investigation the owner of the house found that the alligator was the property of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Shaw, who has had it as a pet for a number of years. The alligator is now enjoying himself out at the high school, where Miss Mariel Aberle is showing him to her biology class.

A stir of surprise grew into outright charges of "malpractice" last night when action pictures of Westbrook men golfers were shown at a dinner for the players at the clubhouse. Everything was all right when the pictures started and a prominent physician was shown teeing off; but when the projector showed a man—supposedly the same physician—going into a tantrum, jumping on his hat, and breaking up his clubs, the physician shouted that a "stand-in" had been substituted for him in the pictures. "That film was doctored," he declared, "and I guess a physician ought to know 'doctoring' when he sees it." The film, it was explained later, had really been "doctored."

Unusual frankness was displayed last night by one of the foreign-born Mansfield residents who was being questioned at the mock naturalization hearing at the courthouse. Having some difficulty answering the questions of John G. Olmstead, district WPA adult education supervisor, who was the acting judge, the applicant was asked if he ever went to school. The troubled applicant explained that he had. "But my head was so thick that I couldn't learn much," he commented seriously.

Ohio B. U. C. Soon to Operate on New Benefit Plan In Social Security.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio's bureau of unemployment compensation will be operating soon under a new benefit payment formula—upon request of the social security board.

Administrator H. C. Atkinson said last night that he was nearing an agreement with representatives of the board which announced in Washington that "certain inequities" in operation of the Ohio bureau had been found, and that prompt action to eliminate them was expected.

"The board is expecting a definite proposal within the very near future," the announcement added.

At the same time Atkinson denied charges by former Gov. Martin L. Davey, Democratic candidate for governor, that an "ultimatum" demanding that "abuses be cleaned up" had been made.

"We have been making an intensive effort for more than three months to correct a number of very serious conflicts in the Ohio law," Atkinson said. "We are now approaching a point where we may reach an agreement."

To Davey's claim that "instead of paying temporary unemployed something like the $15 per week which was the intent of the humane law, Governor Bricker has been paying $3, $4, $5 a week and sometimes as little as $1.50 a week," Atkinson replied that Ohio's average benefit payments of $106.62 were $22.58 above the nation-wide average, although partial payments were considerably less.

GIVES WARNING

Wallace Says Nazi Economic Invasion Threatened.

ST. CLOUD, Minn.—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace carried his vice-presidential campaign into northern Minnesota today with a warning that the United States faces an economic invasion if Germany defeats Great Britain.

Stopping here last night, the Democratic candidate observed that if there is a Hitler victory there will be pressure for loans from "the puppet governments of Europe, and American finance will be wanting to float these loans here."

"The result," he said, "will be peaceful penetration of the new world and if we do any business with a Europe under Hitler, we will have to continue that business on a larger and larger scale in order to avoid a business collapse."

He added that residents of the United States "must be prepared to fight for peace in this hemisphere for your children."

CONGRESS FACED WITH FURTHER APPROPRIATIONS THIS SESSION

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Congress has appropriated $13,127,427,195 so far this session and may be asked to approve $1,500,000,000 in additional funds before adjournment.

In addition, it has authorized another $8,256,082,009 for expenditure in future years—the actual cash to be voted in subsequent sessions—for a grand total of $21,383,509,204.

Appropriations and commitments for defense account for more than $15,000,000,000 of that total.

Congressional records show that the $13,127,427,195, in direct appropriations already exceed those of any full peace-time year in the nation's history. Last year's total was $9,719,258,467.

Only the World war outlays were greater—$18,881,940,243 in the fiscal year of 1918 and $27,065,148,993 in 1919.

The World war totals however, include the so-called "permanent and indefinite" expenditures, for fixed charges such as interest on the public debt.

If this year's fixed charges—$3,975,524,448—are added to the current session's appropriations, the government's contemplated cold-ash expenditures are boosted close to the 1918 level.

The defense outlays include $6,959,635,806 of the actual appropriations, $3,646,082,009 in contract authorizations for the army, navy and army air corps, and $4,610,000,000 in a single authorization for a "two-ocean" navy. Funds for these authorizations will be provided over the next four or five years.

EXPECT DRAFT BILL PASSAGE BEFORE NIGHT

Compromise Measure of Joint Committee Given Congress For Final Action.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Congressional leaders confidently predicted today that peacetime conscription legislation would be on its way to the White House by nightfall to become law.

In both senate and house the plan was to obtain the quickest possible action on the compromise version of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory service bill worked out by a joint conference committee to reconcile differences between the two chambers on the measure.

With acceptance of the compromise generally taken for granted, the day's big question was how long it would take congress to conclude action on the precedent-making bill which orders the registration of 16,500,000 men from the ages of 21 through 35 for possible military service. Some said it would be only a few hours, others that it would take most of the day.

The senate received the compromise version first and majority leader Barkley (D.-Ky.) called the chamber into session an hour earlier than usual at 11 a. m. EST) to expidite consideration.

House leaders were ready to act just as soon as the senate approves the legislation. House regulations limit debate on the subject to a single hour.

The compromise version caused some expressions of dissatisfaction—chiefly from legislators who fought for the narrower 21-to-31 age limit, and the 60-day postponement in starting conscription. There were no signs, however, of attempts to stymie action by prolonged discussion.

Senator Clark (D.-Mo.), who battled the original bill to the last ditch, did say he intended to "bully rag" the senate members of the joint conference committee a little for "doing what they said they wouldn't do" in accepting the compromise measure.

Although he called the compromise "a worse bill than when it passed either house," Clark said he did not expect "a great deal of debate."

One potential source of major dissension was believed largely eliminated by a last-minute committee change in the language of a provision authorizing the president to take over on a rental basis such essential industries as fail to co-operate with the defense program.

As originally drafted, the provision limited the presidential power to times when both "imminent emergency" and "danger" existed. Other critics contended that such a restriction would "nullify" the purpose of the provision.

FARMER DIES

Henry L. Feigley, 81, Lived In Williamsport.

MT. GILEAD — Henry Lewis Feigley, 81, retired Morrow county farmer, died Thursday at his home in Williamsport.

Native of Climax, Morrow county, where he was born Aug. 1, 1859, Mr. Feigley was a member of the United Brethren church and the grange.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the Williamsport United Brethren church with Rev. Paul B. Zimmerman officiating. Burial will be in the Bryn Zion cemetery.

Surviving Mr. Feigley are his widow, Mrs. Catherine Feigley; one son, Fred, of Columbus; four daughters, Mrs. Bart Hart, Galion; Mrs. Lee Miller, Galion; Mrs. Pheron Bachelder, Edison, and Mrs. Paul Korn of Lima, and one brother, Dan, of Johnsville.

Tygers Launch Season Against Akron West Tonight

Coach Snyder's Combine Plays Under Lights

Inexperienced Gridders Face Veteran Cowboy Team In Contest at 8 O'Clock.

By CHARLES MARTIN

WITH only two seasoned players in the starting lineup, Coach Paul Snyder sends his untested Mansfield high grid machine against a veteran Akron West combine at 8 p. m. today under the floodlights at Stadium field.

What the Tygers will do remains to be seen, but from all indications Snyder has assembled a fighting aggregation and it may surprise even the devoted followers.

A backfield composed of Bob Lantz, Elroy "Lightning" Jones, Bill Doolittle and Martin Henke will start for the Tygers and any one of the foursome is capable of racing for a touchdown from any position on the gridiron.

* * *

One of Snyder's biggest worries is the forward wall. He has shifted Ed Kinkle, hard-plunging fullback, into a guard berth in an effort to steady the inexperienced linesmen.

* * *

Whether the forward can hold up is a question. It is one of the lightest lines in the school history, but it packs plenty of fight and is speedy.

Lantz and Henke give Snyder two backs who saw considerable service last season. Henke is a shifty runner and can pass or plough into the line. Another one fans will keep their eyes on tonight is Jones.

The youthful halfback was one of the mainstays of the sophomore backfield which looked impressive last year, and he is a speedster. Once past the line of scrimmage it is practically impossible to bring him down.

* * *

Snyder will start Joe Romano and Dick Winbigler at the ends, George Murray and Bob Arlen at the tackles, Ed Kinkle and John Weber at the guards and Paul Dietzel at center.

* * *

Akron West will send a seasoned outfit to Mansfield to tackle the Tygers. Mainstays of the club are Rudy Crews, an end, and George Sarkis, fullback.

Another Feller

One of the most promising hurlers in the minor leagues, Dick Hearn, 22-year-old Chicagoan playing with St. Augustine of the Florida State league, has chalked up more than 305 strikeouts this season in winning 22 games and is being hailed as another Bobby Feller, the major league strikeout king. The league record was 233. Hearn is a righthander.

SPORTS PARADE

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Just to look at me, you'd swar I only had the normal number of eyes and the proper number of ears.

* * *

But I must have more than two of each, else how in the world could I have seen as much and heard as much as I did during the 24 hours of yesterday.

* * *

There was the golf at Winged Foot, the horses at Aqueduct, and, well, let me tell you a few of the things a few persons told me.

Before the start of play in the National Amateur at Winged Foot, the club professional, Craig Wood, said the defending champion, Bud Ward, couldn't lose.

"He's the only guy in the field who knows how to hit all the shots," Craig told me. "Bud's the only amateur in the country the better pros couldn't start on or two up and beat."

"That's right," Lawson Little echoed, "he'll breeze in."

So what happened? Nothing, except Ward was beaten 4-3 by Ray Billows.

Said Ward after the licking, "Just as soon as I stopped hitting my irons stiff, and had to start putting, I was a goner. After all, putting is just about all that counts in golf today."

* * *

Said Jimmy Johnston, the boy bandit manager of Bob Pastor: "Did you ever see such referees as they have in New York? Belloise committed every foul known to man in licking Garcia, but not a word was said, not a round taken away from him.

* * *

He never was cautioned. What was the matter with Pastor against Conn? You know just as much about it as I do. I haven't seen Bob since the night of the fight. I've still got his dough, and if he doesn't look me up pretty soon I'm gonna start spending it."

Mayer Hits Sub-Par 69 at Westbrook

Possum Run Champ Shoots 69 in Exhibition Match; Moorhead Wins Trophy.

By CHARLES MARTIN
(News-Journal Sports Editor)

IF THERE was ever any doubt in the minds of Mansfield golfers that the only place Joe Mayer could break par is at Possum it should be cast aside today.

* * *

Mayer, one of the finest shotmakers in North Central Ohio, has been busting par figures at Possum Run regularly and yesterday he stepped out at Westbrook Country club and did the same thing while a gallery of some 150 looked on in amazement.

* * *

Playing in an exhibition match with the three other Richland county club champions, Mayer, with his woods working to perfection and his irons and putter doing tricks, smashed out a three-under-par 69 to pace the field.

The other golfers, Bobby Moorhead of Westbrook, Ed Wenninger of Shelby Country club and Vin Malaska of Coolridge Country club trailed the leader in that order.

Moorhead, having trouble with his usual accurate putter, finished second with a 75. Wenninger followed with a 79 and Malaska, who saw his putts stand on the lip of the cup, was last with an 80.

Mayer toured the first nine in par figures although he had an out-of-bounds shot on No. 3 when he took a six on the par 4 hole. But from there on in it was a battle between Joe and Old Man Par.

He started cutting loose on the second nine. Registering a four on the 10th hole, Mayer shot into the lead with a pair of "birdies." His spectacular chip shot on No. 11 was the best of the match.

Short of the green in two, Mayer calmly lined up the ball and sent it towards the pin. The ball bounced a couple of times and trickled into the cup while the gallery gasped. The ball traveled approximately 50 yards.

Mayer came back on No. 12 for the other "birdie." His second shot was 25 feet from the pin and he sank the putt.

Meanwhile his opponents were having trouble dropping their first putts.

Moorhead saw several of his favorite putts rim the cup and roll several feet beyond. A lot of credit is due Wenninger, the Shelby player who was performing on the course for the first time.

Ed got off to a wobbly start, but recovered to come in one over par on the second nine. The tricky greens cost him a number of important strokes.

But Malaska was the lad who was having the real hard luck. After getting a 39 on the first nine he couldn't sink even the short putts. The ball rolled up to the lip of the cup four times, but wouldn't fall in.

Mayer pulled another nifty putt to collect a "birdie" on No. 17. His second shot was on the edge of the green and he sank the uphill putt with ease. The ball traveled about 20 yards.

At a stag dinner honoring the club champion and flight winners the three neighboring champions were introduced to the gathering, one of the largest ever to attend a stag dinner.

Mayer was presented a prize for finishing low in the match. It was awarded by the tournament chairman, Emerson Weller.

* * *

Moorhead won permanent possession of the championship flight cup for winning the title three years in a row. W. J. "Skip" Spreng presented the prizes to the Westbrook winners.

* * *

A motion picture of the Westbrook golfers as they played the course was shown after the dinner and nearly had the members in stitches as they watched their fellow players swinging or trying to get out of a sand trap. (The sand trap shot was one of the highlights of the show.)

Two Softball Games On Tap For Sunday.

Although King Football is moving in to take over the sports headlines, there are still two softball contests on tap for Mansfield fans Sunday afternoon at Liberty park. The Alta Lumbers and Y. M. C. A. Commercial league All-Stars will meet in the twin bill to bring their five-game benefit series to a close. The Lumbers now hold a two-game lead over the stars by virtue of their double win at Liberty park last Sunday. The games are being played for the benefit of Gene Yarman, Safety Cab club third baseman, who is ill.

New Coach Makes Debut For Bluejays; Shelby Meets Norwalk Tonight.

THE Bluejays of Bellville high school will launch their 1940 football season this afternoon at Bellville under their new coach, C. L. Lindsay, when they entertain LaRue high school before an anticipated large Bellville street fair crowd.

* * *

The Bellville and LaRue tilt will not only be the first for the Bluejays but also launches the 1940 grid season in this area.

* * *

Of interest to Mansfield fans will be the first night game at Stadium Field at 8 p. m. between the Tygers and Akron West Cowboys.

Crestline will be battling to protect an eight-game winning streak compiled last year, when the Onondagas entertain Mt. Gilead under the lights at Crestline tonight.

* * *

The N. C. O. grid machines will also see action tonight. Coach William Query will take his Shelby Whippets to Norwalk to launch their season at 8 p. m. at Norwalk field.

* * *

Bucyrus tonight entertains Tiffin Columbian, coached by Bob Seele, former Bucyrus high school grid star, and in the other tilt Willarrd treks to Ashland for a night encounter.

Clubs Battle For Position

Three Teams in Association Race Fight Today.

(By Associated Press)

Kansas City and Minneapolis, who battled right down to the finish last year before the Blues won the American Association title, get together tonight to see what they can do about deciding the three-way 1940 flag race.

* * *

The two close out the season with their four-game series at Minneapolis. Columbus, the third party in the pennant deal, faces Louisville tonight and then moves to Indianapolis for its final three games.

Standings of the leaders today were:

Clubs	W	L	Pct.
Kansas City	93	56	.624
Columbus	88	58	.603
Minneapolis	85	57	.599

Kansas City broke a slump of two games yesterday by trouncing St. Paul, 14 to 0, behind the two-hit pitching of Johnny Lindell.

Minneapolis trounced Milwaukee, 10 to 1, and then lost the nightcap, 11 to 9.

Columbus stayed in the race by rallying for all its runs in the eighth inning to defeat Louisville 4 to 3. In the other game, Indianapolis went 12 innings to turn back Toledo, 9 to 8.

8-YEAR-OLD TROT CHAMP FAILS TO SET RECORD

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(INS)—It was officially established today that Greyhound, 8-year-old trotting champion, did not set a world's record, as announced, in his mile race against time at the Kentucky state fairgrounds Wednesday afternoon.

Correcting previous statements, Robert Jewell, secretary of the fair, said Greyhound's time of 2:00 ½ merely was "a track record for Kentucky." A recheck of the records showed Greyhound himself in other races had covered the distance in time ranging from 1:55¾ to 1:59¾.

Mansfield Eliminated From Ohio State Loop Playoffs

THE Mansfield Braves will not have to worry about sleep playing in the Ohio State league Snaughnessy play-offs.

* * *

The Braves were eliminated from the series last night in Lima when they dropped a one-sided 11 to 1 decision to the Pandas before a shivering crowd of about 600, for their third straight loss.

* * *

Lima will meet the winner of the Findlay-Tiffin preliminary playoff in the final playoff. Findlay defeated Tiffin last night 8 to 5 to take a two to one edge in their series. Findlay need win but one more game in the three-out-of-five series.

Mansfield was held scoreless until the sixth frame when they scored their lone tally. Meanwhile the Pandas held a 10-0 lead until the sixth. Lima held a 4-0 lead up to the fifth frame when they pushed across six runs and added another in the eighth.

Tribe Looks Like Team That Might Cop Pennant

Yanks Lose Speed

New York Folds Before Tigers by 6-3 Score; Cards Lose to Boston.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(AP Sports Writer.)

IT'S TOO EARLY to say the Yankees are stopped. They are what is known as "slowed to a standstill."

When the western clubs were in the East the world champions acquired a case of pennant fever by winning 10 out of 11 from the invaders and they got the idea they could do the same thing against the same clubs away from home.

* * *

Now they are finding out that the Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians, who have alternated the pace most of the season, are stubborn.

* * *

After splitting a doubleheader at Cleveland Wednesday the Yankees folded before the Tigers yesterday 6-3 while the Indians fattened on the Boston Red Sox 8-1.

Atley Donald was winning 3-2 going into the last half of the eighth. Then Joe Gordon threw a doubleplay ball into the dugout and the Tigers tallied four unearned runs on four singles.

It was the 14th triumph of the year for Schoolboy Rowe, who gave 11 hits and was careful in the clutches.

Here are the figures:

Club	W.	L.	Pct.	G.B.	T.P.
Detroit ..	79	58	.577	..	17
Cleveland.	78	58	.574	½	18
New York	76	59	.563	2	19
Boston ..	73	64	.533	6	17
Chicago .	73	64	.533	6	17

The White Sox raided the Philadelphia Athletics in two games 1-0 and 4-3 with Bill Dietrich pitching four-hit ball in the first and Lefty Ed Smith scattering five in the second. Ken Silvestri won nthe nightcap with a two-run homer in the ninth.

The Washington Senators squelched the St. Louis Browns 7-2 with rookie Arnold Anderson doing a six-hit mound choie and another freshman, Jack Sanford, batting in three runs with a triple, double and single.

Hugh Casey won both halves of a doubleheader for the Brooklyn Dodgers against the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-0 and 7-4. He went the route in the first game in a three-hit show and then went to the relief of Luke Hamlin with the score tied in the seventh inning of the nightcap and got credit for the victory. Manager Frank Frisch of the Pirates was banished for the tenth time this year in the second game.

* * *

The once punchless Boston Bees shelled the St. Louis Cardinals 17-7 and 6-1, getting 36 hits in the doubleheader.

* * *

The Chicago Cubs piled up 14 hits, including Bill Nicholson's 21th home run, and Larry French pitched five-hit ball to plug the Phils 5-1.

Harder Stops Sox

Limits Boston Club to Three Hits as Indians Mark Up 8-1 Triumph.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND—Since this is Friday the thirteenth, it probably isn't timely to remark that the Cleveland Indians are looking like a team that might win the American league pennant after all.

* * *

Oscar Vitt's boys looked as if they had more than mere dreams of an all-Ohio series as the clubbed the Boston Red Sox for an 8 to 1 triumph in the opener of a three-game series yesterday.

* * *

Mel Harder veteran right hander, threw a three-hit masterpiece for Cleveland's second triumph in a row. The game seemed to demonstrate that the second placers have resumed the "fat inning" habit.

A day before, they pulled off a five-run inning against the Yankees' Charlie Ruffing. Yesterday they did better, combining a walk and six straight hits off Fritz Ostermueller and Emetson Dickman for seven runs which turned the remaining five innings into just an exhibition before the 1,000 chilled customers.

Harder looked like the Harder of yore. Bothered by arm trouble the early part of recent seasons, he has regularly gone into "hot streaks" in the late months and the Indians hoped this was the start of one when it would count most.

The only run tallied off him was in the ninth inning, Roger Cramer leading off with a triple and scoring on an outfield fly.

* * *

It was the second time this season that Harder, whose record is 10-13, finished a game, and it was his fifth victory over Boston.

* * *

Southpaw Al Milnar was Manager Vitt's mound choice today against Jim Bagby, jr., son of the pitcher who led Cleveland to its only pennant 20 years ago.

Vander Meer Faces Giants

Southpaw Will Be After Second Straight Win.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds offered Johnny Vander Meer an opportunity to share the laurels of their romp down the stretch of the National League pennant race by assigning him to mound duty against the New York Giants today.

* * *

Vander Meer faced the Pirates a little more than a week ago and gave up nine hits but he turned in a 6-3 triumph. He will be opposed today by King Carl Hubbell.

* * *

The Reds defeated the Giants 9-4 in the first of a three-game series yesterday but dropped a half game of their league lead to the second-place Dodgers, who swept a double bill from the Pirates.

The Dodgers' twin victory cut the Cincinnati lead to eight and one-half games but the Rhinelanders were in a position to cop the championship by winning only 10 of their remaining 19 encounters.

Junior Thompson went the route for the Reds ringing up his 15th victory of the season and his fifth in a row over the Ne Yorkers. He whitewashed the Giants for eight rounds, giving up only six scattered blows while his teammates belted Bill Lohrman and Rookie Bob Carpenter.

But New York rallied in the ninth, pushing over four runs on five hits, including Mel Ott's homer, before the sophomore hurler stopped them and whiffed Frank Demaree for the final out.

* * *

* * *

The victory was the Reds' 11th in their last 13 starts.

So Massillon Is Just An 'Ordinary' Team

By ROBERT OLDS.

COLUMBUS — Cheer up and smile, high school coaches. That mighty Massillon gridiron juggernaut will be "rather ordinary" this fall.

* * *

This comes straight from the head man himself—Coach Paul E. Brown who has tutored the terrible Tigers to 24 straight victories in the past three seasons.

* * *

Of course, the Massillon maestro is a modest guy but until the Tigers open their season tonight against Cleveland Cathedral Latin, we'll have to take his word for it.

With another Buckeye scholastic football campaign opening today, Brown sends along word that "our ball club will be smaller (six pounds under last year's 170 average) and ordinarily fast."

Only four of the regulars from last year's great undefeated eleven are back but Paul is noted for the efficient "feeder" organization he has built in the city school system. The returning regulars are Horace Gillon and Ray Getz, two all-Ohio ends; Jim Russell, all-Ohio guard, and Tom James, a fine halfback. Getz has been switched to halfback this fall.

This year's schedule does not belie Brown's reputation not to pick the "soft ones" to build up a record. Read 'em and shudder—Cathedral Latin, Weirton, W. Va., Warren, Erie East, Alliance, Steubenville, Mansfield, Toledo Waite, also unbeaten last year, Youngstown East and Canton McKinley.

Several of the state's 29 undefeated clubs of 1939 are not too downcast about prospects for the coming season. No one predicts two unbeaten years in a row, of course. Massillon was the only such repeater from 1938.

Here's a cross section of opinion from coaches of last year's unbeaten teams (with records):

Toledo Waite (Jack Moellenkopf, 11-0)—"prospects only fair. Lost 17 lettermen. Schedule too difficult. Six lettermen back."

Marion Harding (Bill Williams, 8-0, one tie)—"Prospects not as bad as they seem with 13 lettermen, mostly backs, gone. Good-looking replacements coming up. Tougher schedule."

Hamilton (A. R. Tilton, 9-0)—"Much lighter and not nearly as much power or speed. Much weaker. Schedule toughest in history." (12 lettermen back.)

Lorain (Harold Pryor, 8-0, two tied) — "Prospects for successful season good; undefeated season not so good. Lack experience and reserves. Added two top-notch teams, Cleveland John Adams and Toledo Devilbiss, two hard schedule."

Crestline (Merle Hutson, 8-0—"Our team will be rather weaker than last year. Ten lettermen back but toughest schedule we ever played."

At least two coaches of last year's unbeaten squads were elevated to better jobs this summer —L. J. Hoppes from Conneaut (10-0) to Alliance, and P. L. Triffschuh from West Jefferson (9-0) to Middleport.

The trend toward night games —mostly on Fridays — continues this fall. New light installations have been made at Zanesville, Tiffin Columbian, Mansfield New Boston and Gahanna. The Friday night games pull the school boy "gates" from competition with big college games on Saturday afternoons.

* * *

As usual, in recent years, the season hops off at top speed with a minimum of "breather" games today. Among the key attractions, Cathedral Latin at Massillon holds the top if only to see how "ordinary" Brown's gang turns out.

* * *

Elsewhere, Chicago Lindblom is at Toledo Waite; Hamilton at Toledo Devilbiss, Akron North at Lorain, Columbus Grandview (9-0 last year) at Columbus North, Akron Garfield at New Philadelphia 8-0, one tied), Erie Prep at Conneaut, Youngstown Chaney at Campbell Memorial, (6-0, three tied), St. Mary's at Lima South (8-0, one tie), Columbus East at Portsmouth (8-1, one tied.)

Under Ban

Former high school football star, Johnny Petrovich of Alhambra, Cal., has been declared ineligible to play for either Southern California or U. C. L. A. He was among 10 prep athletes named by Edwin Atherton, new coast grid czar, to fall under imposed ban which involves a new football playing code among coast schools.

Match Shots In Rifle Meet

Friday the 13th Holds No Terror for Men.

CAMP PERRY —(AP)— Friday the 13th held no terrors today for three of America's crackshots at the national matches, for they were to be named national champions with the army's service pistol and Springfield rifle, and the small-bore rifle.

* * *

Almost 1,000 competitors from all walks of life and all branches of the service were hoaked to face the targets on the three-mile firing line for the coveted cartridge championships.

* * *

Topping the list, in view of the national defense angle, was the .30 caliber rifle race, which called for 10 shots of slow and 10 of rapid fire at 200 yards, 10 of rapid at 300 yards, and 10 shots prone at both 600 and 1,000 yards.

* * *

A year ago Sergt. Coats Brown of the U. S. infantry took the title with 288 of 300, four points under the match record of 292 set in 1927 by Lieut. R. M. Cutts, jr., of the marines. The match will require two days to complete.

* * *

William Peterson of Ernest, Pa., with 100-11x, and C. F. Rider of New Lexington O., with 200-10x, posted 300-21x to win the Lyman doubles events, small bore, yesterday.

AIRPORT COAL

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—The manager of the Ohio county airport may have been irked when a five-foot vein of coal was found at the field but the poor people of the section will be thankful for at least 10 years. The president of the county board of commissioners estimates that the vein will yield about 100,000 tons enough for the needy for 10 years.

Amateur Meet In Semi-Finals

Youthful Shotmakers Continue in National Tourney.

MAMARONECK, N. Y. — (AP) — Warrington Bannerman McCullough, jr., a semi-bald young bluebood from Philadelphia, still was in there with the tough competitors of amateur golf when the national championships forged into the semi-final round at the Winged Foot club today.

* * *

Early yesterday, McCullough generally was conceded to have gone further than he belonged. But he got obstinate and knocked the cars off Willie Turnesa 3 and 2 and Johnny Fischer, 5 and 4.

* * *

The other three semi-finalists "belonged," as they say, definitely. Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, who was assigned the task of trying to stop McCullough in one of today's two 36-holers, was runner-up to the champion twice in the last three years. Yesterday he eliminated the defender, Bud Ward of Seattle, Wash., 4 and 3.

In the other bracket were Wilford Wehrle and Dick Chapman. Both have been batting at the door for several years. Chapman is without doubt one of the hottest golfers in the country at the moment.

CUTS FOREST FIRES.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — (AP) — Alabama forest fires showed a marked decline for the first six months of 1940, destroying 33,795 acres less than for the same 1939 period, the state conservation department reports.

JUDGE LANDIS CALLS PRE-WORLD SERIES CONFAB

CHICAGO (AP) Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis today called his annual pre-world series conference between presidents of the American and National leagues and representatives of seven clubs with mathematical chances of landing in the series.

Five American league clubs were represented: Detroit, Cleveland, New York, Boston, and Chicago. Cincinnati and Brooklyn representatives also were invited. Between them they'll settle playing dates, days for traveling, and incidentals in connection with the world championship play-offs.

Reserves Give Varsity Teams Battle In Buck Scrimmage

COLUMBUS (AP) Ohio State's football veterans know today that they're going to have a spirited fight retaining their edge in the battle for starting berths.

* * *

That was evidenced yesterday as a third-squad Red team scrimmaged the Varsity Blues to a standstill and the second-string Green had little success with the fourth-team Whites.

* * *

In two intra-squad games of 20 minutes each, only one touchdown was scored and that was by the Blue's big tackle Charlie Maag who carried the ball eight yards after a blocked punt.

The punt was blocked on the 12-yard line by Sophomore End John Newlin, who got a chance to start with the Blues when veteran Frank Clay of Hamilton showed up with a strained groin.

Because of the squad's excellent physical condition, Coach Francis A. Schmidt ordered scrimmage after only two days practice.

* * *

The spirited way in which the husky candidates blocked and tackled provided notice that not even the veterans could be sure of their positions.

* * *

Varsity men from last year's Big Ten championship team probably will get the starting call in the Sept. 28 opener against Pittsburgh but sophomores and reserves from 1939 are going to grab several of these positions before the season is too old.

Youngstown Opens Grid Season With Victory Over Geneva Club

(By Associated Press)

IT'S all right now, this football weather. The games are here to go with it.

* * *

Youngstown kicked the lid off the Ohio collegiate season by whipping Geneva (Pa.) college 7 to 0 last night before 7,500 fans.

* * *

That's all for this week but next week-end produces a 10-game program introduced by Youngstown's second start against Waynesburg Thursday night.

The Penguins scored in the third period after recovering a fumble on Geneva's 27-yard line. Jim Heber, veteran quarterback, shot a flat pass to Tony Aiello, freshman halfback, on the 15 and the latter scampered over the goal line. Halfback Marty Vardaro booted the extra point.

Youngstown was in command all the way, posting eight first downs to two for the Pennsylvanians.

Meanwhile, practice fields among Ohio colleges were busy places as coaches pushed their squads for the opening tussles.

After watching his University of Cincinnati squad in its first tough scrimmage, Coach Joe Meyer said the Bearcats are "in better physical condition than I have ever seen them at this time of the season." Cincinnati opens Sept. 21 against Hanover.

The spectacular pass-catching of Owen Harrow, senior end from Van Wert, was the bright spot on Miami's fourth practice session. The Oxford eleven begins Sept. 21 with Ball State Teachers.

Two casualties dimmed hopes at Kent State. End Chester Bama cracked a bone in his right leg. Triple-threater Joe Mileski, suffering from chronic appendicitis, was ordered to rest until Sept. 28.

Oberlin starts work with 30 candidates today in preparation for its opener with Rochester Oct. 5.

* * *

Coach Bill Edwards, training his Western Reserve squad at a camp near Hiram, bemoaned the lack of sophomore talent. He is expected to build his team around 11 seniors and let 1941 take care of itself.

* * *

Coach Ray Bade has 32 players working out at Case and expects 14 more by the end of the week.
